TO ADVERTISERS.

MR. MERCHANT, the public has been harangued too long. Its ears are jangling, its eyes are weary with following wild gestures of inexperienced, amateur adv. writers. Its intelligence has been insulted too often, its credulity stretched too far. Readers turn with relief to my low-voiced, moderate, non-exaggerated advertisements, booklets, circulars, business letters, etc., because they appeal to reason. The public weighs words carefully, and the balance swings toward the more solid ones. Let me show you the "difference" in advertising. Terms reasonable. George M. Zellmer, care of Kingston Freeman.

HUERTA PREPARES TO FLEE FROM MEXICO CITY

Train in Readiness and German Steamer to be Ready at Puerto Mexico to Receive the Dictator and His Family---No Official Confirmation, but General Belief in Vera Cruz That This is the Plan.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Vera Cruz, May 27.—Although reports were persistently circulated here today that General Victoriano Huerta has fled from Mexico City to Puerto Mexico to take passage on the German steamship Ypiranga, they lacked official confirmation, although generally believed.

However, they are borne out by a number of circumstances which all indicate that Huerta has finally abdicated after a stormy and brief tenure in the National Palace.

Two special trains, one armed and armored and the other made up of Pullman palace cars, were made up at Cordoba yesterday and held upon the main track awaiting "important passengers" from Mexico City.

The first train was made up of armored box cars and flat cars hearing bags of sand arranged around the sides for barricades.

A flat car with a machine gun mounted upon it was placed before the locomotive. The engineer of this train was under orders to proceed slowly and to make a thorough test of the track at all points and all the bridges.

One private car fitted up in palatial style was attached to the second train. This car, it was said, was prepared for General Huerta and members of his family. The other Pullman cars were intended for the use of Huerta's personal bodyguard and members of his suite, as well as emissaries of the diplomatic corps in Mexico City whose duty it was to see the former dictator safe to his destination.

The Yipranga which steamer for Puerto Mexico, [illegible] accompanied [illegible] is expected back at Vera Cruz Saturday. Before she sailed her commander received word from a representative of the German government that "important passengers would be waiting at Puerto Mexico to take passage on the liner."

So certain were officers of the United States forces stationed here that Huerta would take passage for Europe on the Yipranga that they gave way today to much speculation as to whether he would land from the ship here. It was generally agreed that Huerta would be perfectly safe in Vera Cruz as he would be under the protection of the United States and the same guardianship would be extended to him as was given Dr. Urrutia when a mob attacked him.

Additional color is given to the wide spread reports of Huerta's flight by the fact that Huerta has not been seen in his accustomed haunts in the capital for nearly 48 hours.

Still further circumstantial confirmation is contained in the arrival here of Carl Heynen, Mexican representative of the Hamburg-American line, and the Brazilian consul in Mexico City. They came upon a special train and refused to discuss their errand.

Querido Moheno, former Mexican foreign minister, and political friend of Huerta, is also said to be leaving the country for his personal safety.

Linked with reports that Huerta is fleeing or is about to flee are indications that Mexico City is on the brink of an uprising. Some believe that disorder has already broken out there but this belief has not been substantiated.

All doubt that a break has occurred between Huerta and his minister of war, General Aureliano Blanquet, has now been removed. Friends and followers of Blanquet have been trying for some time to execute a coup by which they can put Blanquet in the National Palace in place of Huerta.

Among the latest Mexican refugees to arrive from the capital was Fausto E. Miranda, a Huertista in the chamber of deputies, and four fellow members of that body.

"I am frank to say that we are fleeing for our lives," said Senor Miranda. "Mexico City rests upon the crater of a volcano. For weeks friends have been advising Huerta to flee."

Refugees arriving from the capital today reported that a young Englishman had been stoned to death by a mob during an anti-foreign outbreak. Two other persons were stoned and badly injured because one of them wore a small red, white and blue button in the laped of his coat.

Washington, May 27.—Skepticism today prevailed in official circles over the report that Gen. Huerta is in fight from Mexico and has sought refuge in Puerto Mexico. No official confirmation of the reports has been received and both the White House and the state department are inclined to doubt them. It is generally believed that Gen. Huerta has made one of his characteristic "disappearances" in his favorite haunts in Mexico City and that he will reappear in a short time.

"I have not received any official confirmation that Huerta has left Mexico City" said Secretary of State Bryan and the twinkle in the secretary's eye gave the interviewer the impression that Bryan only wished that official confirmation could be had from Mexico City that this was a true report. Upon the elimination of Huerta depends the attitude of the United States toward Mexico. With this vexatious problem solved, the other points at issue between the two governments could be adjusted readily by the Niagara peace conference, it was stated at the department.

The secretary of state did not wish to be quoted but he let it become known that Huerta and Huerta alone by bending to the wishes of the U. S. could absolve himself from all aspersions of personal aggrandizement and become a true patriot of Mexico.

War and navy officials sought to have the reports confirmed from the American commanders in Mexico. The American ships Chester and Tacoma are three miles at sea from Puerto Mexico and it is believed that if Huerta arrived at that port, Admiral Badger will wire the news to Washington immediately.

Vera Cruz, May 27.—El Presente, a Spanish newspaper prints the following statement today:

"Gen. Victoriano Huerta has resigned. He left Mexico City during the night, passing through Cordoba. It was his intention to go as far as Santa Lucretia on the Isthmus railway and there await word to proceed."

The editor of the paper admitted that the story had not been verified, but claimed to have it from "high authority."

SIEGEL HAS RETURNED.

Indicted Banker Says He Never Felt Better in His Life.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 27.—Henry Siegel, head of the Siegel Stores [illegible] is under indictment for larceny [illegible] deposits in his private [illegible] when it was insolvent, arrived here from England today on board the Olympic.

"I never felt better in my life" said the indicted merchant and banker as he stepped from the ship, but his nervous and haggard face belied this assertion.

"I can say nothing about my case except that I want a change of venue."

Siegel is at liberty under $25,000 and when he went abroad about three weeks ago it was charged that he was trying to escape the jurisdiction of the New York courts.

RITCHIE DEFEATED.

Badly Battered in Ten Round Contest With Charley White.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 27.—Fight promoters took steps today to match Willie Ritchie and Charley White for a longer route following their ten round no-decision contest here last night in which the champion was decisively defeated. The Chicagoan proved himself the master in seven of the rounds and at the finish Willie emerged from the ring with his face badly battered, blood streaming from a cut on the bridge of his nose and weak and weary from punishment. The state law prohibiting a decision alone robbed White of the championship.

There was only one round in which the champion could claim the advantage. That was the third, in which Ritchie jabbed to his heart's content. Two of the rounds, the second and the ninth, were even, while all of the other seven belonged to White.

The bruises which Ritchie carried today were evidences of the ability of Charley White to belong in the hall of fame of the champions. White won because of superior punching ability.

Ritchie was believed to be the cleverer of the two but his cleverness did him no good. Every time Ritchie led, White made an effort to beat him to the punch and that he succeeded is evidenced by the damage he inflicted.

Motorcyclist Killed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, May 27.—Edward Bomark, owner of a motorcycle store, and Miss Marie Kierna, 17, were killed and Adolph J. Maspos was probably fatally hurt early today when two motorcycles collided with an express wagon. Stanley Zywickiel, driver of the wagon and his assistant, were arrested, the police alleging that they did not carry a bright enough light on the wagon.

Killed in Dredge Accident.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Harrison, N. J., May 27.—One man was killed and four men were badly scalded when boiler tubes on the dredger Iroquois in the Passaic river blew out today. The dead man is Lawrence Skelton, an assistant fireman.

KNOCK CHAINS FROM MISS PANKHURST'S WRIST'S TO ARREST HER.

Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, most militant of all English militant suffragettes, who has again been arrested. This time Miss Pankhurst's followers sought to foil the police by chaining twenty of their number to her, wrist to wrist. The London bobbies lost no time in hammering away at the chains on Miss Pankhurst's wrists until they parted and she was then taken to the lockup.

AMERICAN HORSE WINS EPSOM DERBY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Epsom, Eng., Mar 27.—Durbar II, the only American owned horse that ran, won the classic Derby on Epsom Downs today, defeating the cream of the British [illegible] colors of H. B. Duryea, Durbar II ran a brilliant race, finishing amidst a burst of applause in which King George, Queen Mary and other members of the royal family joined.

H. Cholmondelay's Hapsburg ran second and H. J. King's Peter the Hermit finished third.

Sir John Thursby's Kennymore, the favorite, failed to get in the money.

A brilliant crowd of record breaking size witnessed the race while more than 3,000 policemen and detectives kept a vigilant watch to prevent militant suffragettes from spoiling the race, as they had threatened to do.

King George took the defeat of his horse, Brakespear, philosophically, saying:

"It's part of the game."

The start of the race was delayed owing to the fractious behavior of Kennymore, which was ridden by Frank O'Neill, an American jockey.

The weather was brilliant and the track was fast.

Durbar II was an outsider, the bookmakers laying odds of 30 to 1 against him. The odds on Hapsburg were 33 to 1 and the odds on Peter the Hermit were 100 to 1.

Durbar II was ridden by Jockey MacGee, who rode a brilliant race, wininng by three lengths.

Durbar II was bred in France.

The earlier odds on Durbar II had been 25 to 1 but as post time approached, the bookmakers thought less of the American horse's chances and lengthened the odds.

Kennymore's wildness at the post was responsible for his defeat, according to the expert turfmen. At the last minute many bettors, seeing the excited condition of Kennymore, hedged.

Panic on Electric Car.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 27.—Fifty passengers in the first car of a Rockaway Beach electric train were thrown into panic today when the car caught fire from defective insulation. The conductor refused to stop the train and allow the passengers to alight for fear they would come in contact with the deadly third-rail. In the wild stampede from the first car into the others, a number of men and women were knocked down and trampled. When the train sped like a meteor into the Nostrand avenue station in Brooklyn, the fire was put out.

Mrs. Pankhurst Out Again.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 27.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the militant suffragettes, who was arrested last Thursday during a riot outside of Buckingham Palace, was released from Holloway jail today. This was the eighth victory Mrs. Pankhurst has won over the British government through the medium of the "hunger and thirst" strike.

Spraying Outfit for Andes.

One of the finest spraying outfits used in this part of the country was shipped today from the Canfield Supply Company to parties in Andes, N. Y. It was a New Way sprayer, the same as used at the Geneva experimental farms.

MEDIATORS AT A GARDEN PARTY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 27.—Junketing across the province of Ontario in a special car to attend a garden party in Toronto at which [illegible] guests, the South American mediators and the American and Mexican peace delegates played steadily at their game of diplomacy today.

Without the formality that marked their "conversations" in mediation headquarters in Clifton Hotel, the conferees again took up the following questions:

1.—The time when General Huerta should abdicate.

2.—The right of Huerta to run for the presidency at the next election.

3.—The right of the Constitutionalists to dictate the terms of the next election.

4.—The treatment of the agrarian question.

It is expected that the points upon which the Americans and Mexicans have reached an agreement will be put into writing tomorrow. Reports from Vera Cruz that General Huerta was in flight from the capital were read with intense interest by all concerned. According to the general belief the abdication of Huerta would render the present conference useless as it would leave the way clear for the Constitutionalists to seize Mexico City and with it the central government of the republic.

If, on the other hand, reports of Huerta's flight are untrue, the arrival of delegates representing the Constitutionalists and the question of an armistice between the Huertistas and the Carranzistas becomes the crux of the situation.

Pacification of Mexico cannot begin until the followers of General Francisco Villa and General Emilio Zapata have laid down their arms. The rebels have sworn not to ground their arms so long as Huerta remains in the capital. Zapata will probably refuse to make a truce except at the desire of Villa, as he suspects Carranza of a lack of sympathy with the peon revolution. The Carranza family is powerful and rich and owns thousands of acres.

Accordingly a big feature of the situation now rests with the judgment displayed by Villa. If Huerta has really fled or if he has not fled but consents at the request of President Wilson to resign, all will look to Villa to give the word to the rebels to stop fighting.

A number of code messages passed back and forth between the peace delegates and Washington today, giving rise to the belief that something was happening in Mexico. However, some of these were said to be requests to President Wilson to put up to Villa at once representations for an immediate armistice.

Today's visit to Toronto is largely a return of the courtesy shown by the Dominion and provincial governments to the mediators and delegates upon their arrival.

Hot Day in Boston.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, Mass., May 27.—Boston is today sweltering in the second day of the first heat wave of 1914, which so far has caused one death and a score of prostrations. No immediate relief from the torrid wave is promised by the weather bureau officials. Officially the thermometer crept up to the 93 degree mark and probably will go higher.

HORRIBLY MANGLED IN BRICK MACHINE

Tovalet Amodi, an employe on Dinan's brickyard, was killed early this morning while at work on the yard. He was employed in the pit and got caught in the machinery, being horribly mangled before the machinery could be stopped. Dr. A. A. Stern was summoned and found that he was beyond medical aid. Amodi's neck and spine were broken and his chest was crushed in. Coroner Ernest A. Kelly was summoned and issued a death certificate.

DOYLE SAYS LYNCH THE SUFFRAGETTES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 27.—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes, arrived here today on board the Olympic and predicted that the British public would not stand much more from militant suffragettes but would rise against the women and lynch them.

"And I would like to take part in that lynching party myself" said the famous novelist grimly.

"The English party has stood enough from those irresponsible women," said Sir Arthur. "The government has allowed the militants all the rope they needed and they have thoroughly disgusted the public. But it is British nature to be patient. When once aroused though the militants will find that the nature of the British male is stern."

Sir Arthur, who was met at the pier by William J. Burns, the detective, said he was going to the Canadian Rockies for a vacation. He is accompanied by Lady Doyle.

MR. MERCHANT, the public has been harangued too long. Its ears are jangling, its eyes are weary with following wild gestures of inexperienced, amateur adv. writers. Its intelligence has been insulted too often, its credulity stretched too far. Readers turn with relief to my low-voiced, moderate, non-exaggerated advertisements, booklets, circulars, business letters, etc., because they appeal to reason. The public weighs words carefully, and the balance swings toward the more solid ones. Let me show you the "difference" in advertising. Terms reasonable. George M. Zollmer, care of Kingston Freeman.

HUERTA PREPARES TO FLEE FROM MEXICO CITY

Train in Readiness and German Steamer to be Ready at Puerto Mexico to Receive the Dictator and His Family---No Official Confirmation, but General Belief in Vera Cruz That This is the Plan.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Vera Cruz, May 27.—Although reports were persistently circulated here today that General Victoriano Huerta has fled from Mexico City to Puerto Mexico to take passage on the German steamship Ypiranga, they lacked official confirmation, although generally believed.

However, they are borne out by a number of circumstances which all indicate that Huerta has finally abdicated after a stormy and brief tenure in the National Palace.

Two special trains, one armed and armored and the other made up of Pullman palace cars, were made up at Cordoba yesterday and held upon the main track awaiting "important passengers" from Mexico City.

The first train was made up of armored box cars and flat cars bearing bags of sand arranged around the sides for barricades.

A flat car with a machine gun mounted upon it was placed before the locomotive. The engineer of this train was under orders to proceed slowly and to make a thorough test of the track at all points and all the bridges.

One private car fitted up in palatial style was attached to the second train. This car, it was said, was prepared for General Huerta and members of his family. The other Pullman cars were intended for the use of Huerta's personal bodyguard and members of his suite, as well as emissaries of the diplomatic corps in Mexico City whose duty it was to see the former dictator safe to his destination.

The Ypiranga which steamer for Puerto Mexico [illegible] accompanied is expected here at Vera Cruz Saturday. Before she sailed her commander received word from a representative of the German government that "important passengers would be waiting at Puerto Mexico to take passage on the liner."

So certain were officers of the United States forces stationed here that Huerta would take passage for Europe on the Ypiranga that they gave way today to much speculation as to whether he would land from the ship here. It was generally agreed that Huerta would be perfectly safe in Vera Cruz as he would be under the protection of the United States and the same guardianship would be extended to him as was given Dr. Urrutia when a mob attacked him.

Additional color is given to the wide spread reports of Huerta's flight by the fact that Huerta has not been seen in his accustomed haunts in the capital for nearly 48 hours.

Still further circumstantial confirmation is contained in the arrival here of Carl Heynen, Mexican representative of the Hamburg-American line, and the Brazilian consul in Mexico City. They came upon a special train and refused to discuss their errand.

Querido Moheno, former Mexican foreign minister, and political friend of Huerta, is also said to be leaving the country for his personal safety.

Linked with reports that Huerta is fleeing or is about to flee are indications that Mexico City is on the brink of an uprising. Some believe that disorder has already broken out there but this belief has not been substantiated.

All doubt that a break has occurred between Huerta and his minister of war, General Aureliano Blanquet, has now been removed. Friends and followers of Blanquet have been trying for some time to execute a coup by which they can put Blanquet in the National Palace in place of Huerta.

Among the latest Mexican refugees to arrive from the capital was Fausto E. Miranda, a Huertista in the chamber of deputies, and four fellow members of that body.

"I am frank to say that we are fleeing for our lives," said Senor Miranda. "Mexico City rests upon the crater of a volcano. For weeks friends have been advising Huerta to flee."

Refugees arriving from the capital today reported that a young Englishman had been stoned to death by a mob during an anti-foreign outbreak. Two other persons were stoned and badly injured because one of them wore a small red, white and blue button in the laped of his coat.

Washington, May 27.—Skepticism today prevailed in official circles over the report that Gen. Huerta is in fight from Mexico and has sought refuge in Puerto Mexico. No official confirmation of the reports has been received and both the White House and the state department are inclined to doubt them. It is generally believed that Gen. Huerta has made one of his characteristic "disappearances" in his favorite haunts in Mexico City and that he will reappear in a short time.

"I have not received any official confirmation that Huerta has left Mexico City" said Secretary of State Bryan and the twinkle in the secretary's eye gave the interviewer the impression that Bryan only wished that official confirmation could be had from Mexico City that this was a true report. Upon the elimination of Huerta depends the attitude of the United States toward Mexico. With this vexatious problem solved, the other points at issue between the two governments could be adjusted readily by the Niagara peace conference, it was stated at the department.

The secretary of state did not wish to be quoted but he let it become known that Huerta and Huerta alone by bending to the wishes of the U. S. could absolve himself from all aspersions of personal aggrandizement and become a true patriot of Mexico.

War and navy officials sought to have the reports confirmed from the American commanders in Mexico. The American ships Chester and Tacoma are three miles at sea from Puerto Mexico and it is believed that if Huerta arrived at that port, Admiral Badger will wire the news to Washington immediately.

Vera Cruz, May 27.—El Presente, a Spanish newspaper prints the following statement today:

"Gen. Victoriano Huerta has resigned. He left Mexico City during the night, passing through Cordoba. It was his intention to go as far as Santa Lucretia on the Isthmus railway and there await word to proceed."

The editor of the paper admitted that the story had not been verified, but claimed to have it from "high authority."

SIEGEL HAS RETURNED.

Indicted Banker Says He Never Felt Better in His Life.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 27.—Henry Siegel, head of the Siegel Stores [illegible] indicted [illegible] in his private [illegible] was insolvent, arrived here from England today on board the Olympic.

"I never felt better in my life" said the indicted merchant and banker as he stepped from the ship, but his nervous and haggard face belied this assertion.

"I can say nothing about my case except that I want a change of venue."

Siegel is at liberty under $25,000 and when he went abroad about three weeks ago it was charged that he was trying to escape the jurisdiction of the New York courts.

RITCHIE DEFEATED.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 27.—Fight promoters took steps today to match Willie Ritchie and Charley White for a longer route following their ten round no-decision contest here last night in which the champion was decisively defeated. The Chicagoan proved himself the master in seven of the rounds and at the finish Willie emerged from the ring with his face badly battered, blood streaming from a cut on the bridge of his nose and weak and weary from punishment. The state law prohibiting a decision alone robbed White of the championship.

There was only one round in which the champion could claim the advantage. That was the third, in which Ritchie jabbed to his heart's content. Two of the rounds, the second and the ninth, were even, while all of the other seven belonged to White.

The bruises which Ritchie carried today were evidences of the ability of Charley White to belong in the hall of fame of the champions. White won because of superior punching ability.

Ritchie was believed to be the cleverer of the two but his cleverness did him no good. Every time Ritchie led, White made an effort to beat him to the punch and that he succeeded is evidenced by the damage he inflicted.

Motorcyclist Killed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, May 27.—Edward Bomark, owner of a motorcycle store, and Miss Marie Kierna, 17, were killed and Adolph J. Maspos was probably fatally hurt early today when two motorcycles collided with an express wagon. Stanley Zywickiel, driver of the wagon and his assistant, were arrested, the police alleging that they did not carry a bright enough light on the wagon.

Killed in Dredge Accident.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Harrison, N. J., May 27.—One man was killed and four men were badly scalded when boiler tubes on the dredger Iroquois in the Passaic river blew out today. The dead man is Lawrence Skelton, an assistant fireman.

KNOCK CHAINS FROM MISS PANKHURST'S WRIST'S TO ARREST HER.

Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, most militant of all English militant suffragettes, who has again been arrested. This time Miss Pankhurst's followers sought to foil the police by chaining twenty of their number to her, wrist to wrist. The London bobbies lost no time in hammering away at the chains on Miss Pankhurst's wrists until they parted and she was then taken to the lockup.

AMERICAN HORSE WINS EPSOM DERBY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Epsom, Eng., Mar 27.—Durbar II, the only American owned horse that ran, won the classic Derby on Epsom Downs today, defeating the cream of [illegible] a brilliant race, finishing amidst a burst of applause in which King George, Queen Mary and other members of the royal family joined.

H. Cholmondelay's Hapsburg ran second and H. J. King's Peter the Hermit finished third.

Sir John Thursby's Kennymore, the favorite, failed to get in the money.

A brilliant crowd of record breaking size witnessed the race while more than 3,000 policemen and detectives kept a vigilant watch to prevent militant suffragettes from spoiling the race, as they had threatened to do.

King George took the defeat of his horse, Brakespear, philosophically, saying:

"It's part of the game."

The start of the race was delayed owing to the fractious behavior of Kennymore, which was ridden by Frank O'Neill, an American jockey.

The weather was brilliant and the track was fast.

Durbar II was an outsider, the bookmakers laying odds of 30 to 1 against him. The odds on Hapsburg were 33 to 1 and the odds on Peter the Hermit were 100 to 1.

Durbar II was ridden by Jockey MacGee, who rode a brilliant race, wininng by three lengths.

Durbar II was bred in France.

The earlier odds on Durbar II had been 25 to 1 but as post time approached, the bookmakers thought less of the American horse's chances and lengthened the odds.

Kennymore's wildness at the post was responsible for his defeat, according to the expert turfmen. At the last minute many bettors, seeing the excited condition of Kennymore, hedged.

Panic on Electric Car.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 27.—Fifty passengers in the first car of a Rockaway Beach electric train were thrown into panic today when the car caught fire from defective insulation. The conductor refused to stop the train and allow the passengers to alight for fear they would come in contact with the deadly third-rail. In the wild stampede from the first car into the others, a number of men and women were knocked down and trampled. When the train sped like a meteor into the Nostrand avenue station in Brooklyn, the fire was put out.

Mrs. Pankhurst Out Again.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 27.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the militant suffragettes, who was arrested last Thursday during a riot outside of Buckingham Palace, was released from Holloway jail today. This was the eighth victory Mrs. Pankhurst has won over the British government through the medium of the "hunger and thirst" strike.

One of the finest spraying outfits used in this part of the country was shipped today from the Canfield Supply Company to parties in Andes, N. Y. It was a New Way sprayer, the same as used at the Geneva experimental farms.

MEDIATORS AT A GARDEN PARTY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 27.—Junketing across the province of Ontario in a special car to attend a garden party in Toronto at which [illegible] guests, the South American mediators and the American and Mexican peace delegates played steadily at their game of diplomacy today.

Without the formality that marked their "conversations" in mediation headquarters in Clifton Hotel, the conferees again took up the following questions:

1.—The time when General Huerta should abdicate.

2.—The right of Huerta to run for the presidency at the next election.

3.—The right of the Constitutionalists to dictate the terms of the next election.

4.—The treatment of the agrarian question.

It is expected that the points upon which the Americans and Mexicans have reached an agreement will be put into writing tomorrow. Reports from Vera Cruz that General Huerta was in flight from the capital were read with intense interest by all concerned. According to the general belief the abdication of Huerta would render the present conference useless as it would leave the way clear for the Constitutionalists to seize Mexico City and with it the central government of the republic.

If, on the other hand, reports of Huerta's flight are untrue, the arrival of delegates representing the Constitutionalists and the question of an armistice between the Huertistas and the Carranzistas becomes the crux of the situation.

Pacification of Mexico cannot begin until the followers of General Francisco Villa and General Emilio Zapata have laid down their arms. The rebels have sworn not to ground their arms so long as Huerta remains in the capital. Zapata will probably refuge to make a truce except at the desire of Villa, as he suspects Carranza of a lack of sympathy with the peon revolution. The Carranza family is powerful and rich and owns thousands of acres.

Accordingly a big feature of the situation now rests with the judgment displayed by Villa. If Huerta has really fled or if he has not fled but consents at the request of President Wilson to resign, all will look to Villa to give the word to the rebels to stop fighting.

A number of code messages passed back and forth between the peace delegates and Washington today, giving rise to the belief that something was happening in Mexico. However, some of these were said to be requests to President Wilson to put up to Villa at once representations for an immediate armistice.

Today's visit to Toronto is largely a return of the courtesy shown by the Dominion and provincial governments to the mediators and delegates upon their arrival.

Hot Day in Boston.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, Mass., May 27.—Boston is today sweltering in the second day of the first heat wave of 1914, which so far has caused one death and a score of prostrations. No immediate relief from the torrid wave is promised by the weather bureau officials. Officially the thermometer crept up to the 93 degree mark and probably will go higher.

HORRIBLY MANGLED IN BRICK MACHINE

Tovalet Amodi, an employe on Dinan's brickyard, was killed early this morning while at work on the yard. He was employed in the pit and got caught in the machinery, being horribly mangled before the machinery could be stopped. Dr. A. A. Stern was summoned and found that he was beyond medical aid. Amodi's neck and spine were broken and his chest was crushed in. Coroner Ernest A. Kelly was summoned and issued a death certificate.

DOYLE SAYS LYNCH THE SUFFRAGETTES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 27.—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes, arrived here today on board the Olympic and predicted that the British public would not stand much more from militant suffragettes but would rise against the women and lynch them.

"And I would like to take part in that lynching party myself" said the famous novelist grimly.

"The English party has stood enough from those irresponsible women," said Sir Arthur. "The government has allowed the militants all the rope they needed and they have thoroughly disgusted the public. But it is British nature to be patient. When once aroused though the militants will find that the nature of the British male is stern."

Sir Arthur, who was met at the pier by William J. Burns, the detective, said he was going to the Canadian Rockies for a vacation. He is accompanied by Lady Doyle.

A man who prided himself on a wonderful imagination that could conceive the biggest lies on record once made a wager that he could tell a greater falsehood than any man in the town where he resided. "I saw him do it, for I stood on the other side and caught the nail."

A man who prided himself on a wonderful imagination that could conceive the biggest lies on record once made a wager that he could tell a greater falsehood than any man in the town where he resided. "I saw him do it, for I stood on the other side and caught the nail."

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

New York, May 27.—And now "Old Bob" Fitzsimmons comes along and utters some harsh, cruel words in the general direction of the present day punching persons. Not only does Bob verbally hammer the "white hopes" of whom Bob thinks darned little, but he also takes a poke at the entries in all other divisions.

"The boxers of the present day are a menace to the sport," asserts Fitz, with much gusto. "They are money mad. They ask too much for their services and the exhibitions some of them give are fierce.

"Think of Ritchie demanding—and getting—a $10,000 guarantee for 10 rounds—exactly 30 minutes work. Why it's absurd. Those fellows ought to be made to fight on a percentage basis like we did in the old days, the winner receiving the major portion of the purse.

"The reason that the fights of the present day are jokes and farces in connection with those in the old days is because of that guarantee business. When a fighter knows that he'll get a certain amount, no matter how the batle ends, he doesn't extend himself. He just stalls along and defrauds the public for he is taking their money under the pretense of fighting.

"But ten and twenty years ago before the guarantee idea became in vogue there were real fights. A fighter knew that winning made a difference of from 20 to 30 per cent in his divvy, according to whether the purse was split 60-40 or 70-30, and you can bet on it that he humped himself some to grab off the big end.

"It's too bad that some of the old time fighters who gave the fans an honest run for their money aren't in their prime today, so that they could grab down some of the big money. They were the boys who gave the crowd the very best exhibition possible. They fought every minute they were on their feet. Stalling and performing a marathon in the ring wasn't in their line. Yet they got pitifully little [illegible] that I got a fortune for my fight with Corbett and Jeffries. The amount that I got for winning the championship was $5,000—a sum that the second raters in this day would sneeze at. For my fight with Jeffries I drew down only a little more than $4,000. And those were championship bouts, mind you. So you can guess what I used to get for fighting the second raters. It was hardly enough to buy chewing tobacco for the fighters of this day."

While on the subject of Fitz it might be mentioned that a great grief has come into his old age. He has a son, a namesake, who is regarded by all who have seen him as a wonderful fighting machine and a possible champion in the heavyweight division. But the boy cares not for the famed arena; he cares not for the fame as a pugilist and he recently told his stunned papa that he won't adopt prize fighting as a profession. Young Fitz hates fighting as much as old Fitz loves it, and the grand old man of the prize ring, who carefully groomed his son to bring the championship back to the family, cannot understand the amazing attitude of the son.

Fitz's offspring is under 20. He weighs around 200, is about 6 feet tall and has a superb physique. He is faster on his feet than any of the present day "white hopes," has a reach longer than his dad's, an assortment of terrible punches and a defense that is nearly perfect.

Ever since he was a little shaver Father Fitz has been showing him all he knows of the ring game. For years in his odd moments the father has trained the son. And now, just at a time when he is ripe for the work of fighting his way to the kingly place his father once held, young Fitz has decided that he doesn't care to go about punching other persons.

It isn't cowardice that causes this change of mind on the part of Fitz junior. He's as game and as brave as his dad—which speaks volumes. It's simply because young Fitz doesn't care for the prize fighting life. He'd rather be a farmer or learn some trade then don the mitts.

This comes as a severe blow to Old Fitz. The ambition of his later years has been to see his son the champion. He has devoted more than 10 years to training his boy and working him up to that point, and now to have the boy break through the traces, to have him decide that he won't be a fighter is a pretty hard blow to the father.

But Old Fitz isn't exactly in despair. He is humoring the boy now, hoping that in a few months he will alter his present determination and go into the ring after all.

QUEER ANGLE IN BASEBALL

Umpire Brennan Allows Runner to Score a Run After Third Man Had Been Touched Out.

"Speaking of intricate plays on the ball field," mused Bill Brennan, umpire-in-chief on the Federal league staff, in a fanning bee the other day, "a play that puzzled the crowd for a time came up in that final Buns-Packers game, when I allowed a score to count after three men had been retired.

"Scoring a run after a side is out is a ticklish situation for any umpire, and I can honestly say that seldom before have I heard of an instance where an umpire must rule on such an affair. There were three Kansas City men on the bags, and two out. The batter had three balls and one strike, and apparently a hit-and-run signal was given. As the Buns' pitcher wound up, the men on first and second started out on a gallop, but the man occupying third saw that the ball was wide, and he started off slowly to stroll home, as the run was forced in. The runner who had been on second, however, had decided to give an exhibition of speed, I guess, for he dashed around third and took a big lead toward the plate. Quick as a flash Wilson pegged the ball to Zeider, and the runner was tagged out.

That out was made before the straggler who had been on third reached the plate, and there we have a situation that would puzzle anyone for an instant. The Packer lagging from third continued to walk home, and he registered the run probably three seconds after the third man had been retired at third. There was nothing to do but to allow the run, as the pass issued with the sacks full forced in a run which must be counted, even though a speed boy pulled a bone on the sacks."

CUTTING OUT THE BLEACHERS

Baseball Magnates Killing 25-Cent Ball by Reducing Seating Capacity —Rules Obeyed.

Twenty-five-cent baseball seems to be [illegible] parks. Justing from the major league you haven't got four is a case of "If you needn't come around."

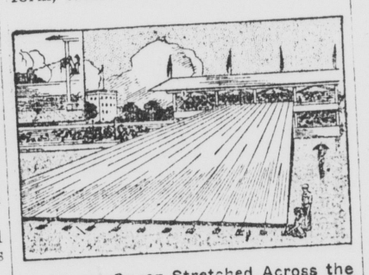

Until a few years ago, when [illegible] the club owners in the American [illegible] of National leagues began constructing new stands, there were many 25-cent seats. But since then they have been growing scarcer and scarcer. The old bleacher area in most of the parks has been cut into three parts, the two parts nearest the home plate selling at 50 cents, and only the little stretch that is farthest away from the plate being allotted to the 25-cent fans.

The rules of the big leagues provide for 25-cent seats, but they do not specify the number. Because of that little error that would have protected the 25-cent fans the magnates have reduced the bleacher seats from numbers far into the thousands to numbers in the hundreds.

COVER PROTECTS BALL FIELD

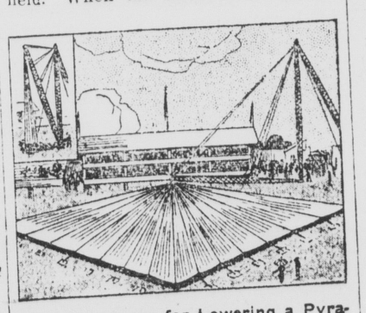

Canvas Tarpaulin Screen, Attached to Hangers, Sliding on Cables, Makes Sloping Roof.

To protect baseball diamonds and other athletic fields from rain and avoid postponement of games on account of "wet grounds," two St. Louis inventors have devised and patented a cover that may be spread over the field when it is not in use. The cover is arranged in two forms to be used with or without a grandstand. In one form, cables are run out from drums

under the eaves of the grandstand and anchored beyond the outside baseline; a canvas or tarpaulin cover, attached to hangers sliding on the cables, makes a sloping roof over the "skinned" portion of the field, says the Popular Mechanics. In the other form, the cover is supported by a steel mast and swinging boom placed near the field. When the boom is swung out

New York, May 27.—And now "Old Bob" Fitzsimmons comes along and utters some harsh, cruel words in the general direction of the present day punching persons. Not only does Bob verbally hammer the "white hopes" of whom Bob thinks darned little, but he also takes a poke at the entries in all other divisions.

"The boxers of the present day are a menace to the sport," asserts Fitz, with much gusto. "They are money mad. They ask too much for their services and the exhibitions some of them give are fierce.

"Think of Ritchie demanding—and getting—a $10,000 guarantee for 10 rounds—exactly 30 minutes work. Why it's absurd. Those fellows ought to be made to fight on a percentage basis like we did in the old days, the winner receiving the major portion of the purse.

"The reason that the fights of the present day are jokes and farces in connection with those in the old days is because of that guarantee business. When a fighter knows that he'll get a certain amount, no matter how the batle ends, he doesn't extend himself. He just stalls along and defrauds the public for he is taking their money under the pretense of fighting.

"But ten and twenty years ago before the guarantee idea became in vogue there were real fights. A fighter knew that winning made a difference of from 20 to 30 per cent in his divvy, according to whether the purse was split 60-40 or 70-30, and you can bet on it that he humped himself some to grab off the big end.

"It's too bad that some of the old time fighters who gave the fans an honest run for their money aren't in their prime today, so that they could grab down some of the big money. They were the boys who gave the crowd the very best exhibition possible. They fought every minute they were on their feet. Stalling and performing a marathon in the ring wasn't in their line. Yet they got pitifully little money for it.

"Some persons are of the opinion that I got a fortune for my fight with Corbett and Jeffries. The amount that I got for winning the championship was $5,000—a sum that the second raters in this day would sneeze at. For my fight with Jeffries I drew down only a little more than $4,000. And those were championship bouts, mind you. So you can guess what I used to get for fighting the second raters. It was hardly enough to buy chewing tobacco for the fighters of this day."

While on the subject of Fitz it might be mentioned that a great grief has come into his old age. He has a son, a namesake, who is regarded by all who have seen him as a wonderful fighting machine and a possible champion in the heavyweight division. But the boy does not [illegible] ined arena; he cares not for the fame as a pugilist and he recently told his stunned papa that he won't adopt prize fighting as a profession. Young Fitz hates fighting as much as old Fitz loves it, and the grand old man of the prize ring, who carefully groomed his son to bring the championship back to the family, cannot understand the amazing attitude of the son.

Fitz's offspring is under 20. He weighs around 200, is about 6 feet tall and has a superb physique. He is faster on his feet than any of the present day "white hopes," has a reach longer than his dad's, an assortment of terrible punches and a defense that is nearly perfect.

Ever since he was a little shaver Father Fitz has been showing him all he knows of the ring game. For years in his odd moments the father has trained the son. And now, just at a time when he is ripe for the work of fighting his way to the kingly place his father once held, young Fitz has decided that he doesn't care to go about punching other persons.

It isn't cowardice that causes this change of mind on the part of Fitz junior. He's as game and as brave as his dad—which speaks volumes. It's simply because young Fitz doesn't care for the prize fighting life. He'd rather be a farmer or learn some trade then don the mitts.

This comes as a severe blow to Old Fitz. The ambition of his later years has been to see his son the champion. He has devoted more than 10 years to training his boy and working him up to that point, and now to have the boy break through the traces, to have him decide that he won't be a fighter is a pretty hard blow to the father.

But Old Fitz isn't exactly in despair. He is humoring the boy now, hoping that in a few months he will alter his present determination and go into the ring after all.

QUEER ANGLE IN BASEBALL

Umpire Brennan Allows Runner to Score a Run After Third Man Had Been Touched Out.

"Speaking of intricate plays on the ball field," mused Bill Brennan, umpire-in-chief on the Federal league staff, in a fanning bee the other day, "a play that puzzled the crowd for a time came up in that final Buns-Packers game, when I allowed a score to count after three men had been retired.

"Scoring a run after a side is out is a ticklish situation for any umpire, and I can honestly say that seldom before have I heard of an instance where an umpire must rule on such an affair. There were three Kansas City men on the bags, and two out. The batter had three balls and one strike, and apparently a hit-and-run signal was given. As the Buns' pitcher wound up, the men on first and second started out on a gallop, but the man occupying third saw that the ball was wide, and he started off slowly to stroll home, as the run was forced in. The runner who had been on second, however, had decided to give an exhibition of speed, I guess, for he dashed around third and took a big lead toward the plate. Quick as a flash Wilson pegged the ball to Zeider, and the runner was tagged out.

That out was made before the straggler who had been on third reached the plate, and there we have a situation that would puzzle anyone for an instant. The Packer lagging from third continued to walk home, and he registered the run probably three seconds after the third man had been retired at third. There was nothing to do but to allow the run, as the pass issued with the sacks full forced in a run which must be counted, even though a speed boy pulled a bone on the sacks."

CUTTING OUT THE BLEACHERS

Baseball Magnates Killing 25-Cent Ball by Reducing Seating Capacity —Rules Obeyed.

Twenty-five-cent baseball seems to be on [illegible] parks. Judging from the major league you haven't got four—is a case of "If you needn't come around."

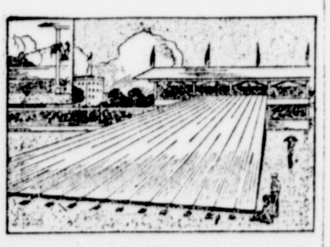

Until a few years ago, when [illegible] the club owners in the American [illegible] of National leagues began constructing new stands, there were many 25-cent seats. But since then they have been growing scarcer and scarcer. The old bleacher area in most of the parks has been cut into three parts, the two parts nearest the home plate selling at 50 cents, and only the little stretch that is farthest away from the plate being allotted to the 25-cent fans.

The rules of the big leagues provide for 25-cent seats, but they do not specify the number. Because of this little error that would have protected the 25-cent fans the magnates have reduced the bleacher seats from numbers far into the thousands to numbers in the hundreds.

COVER PROTECTS BALL FIELD

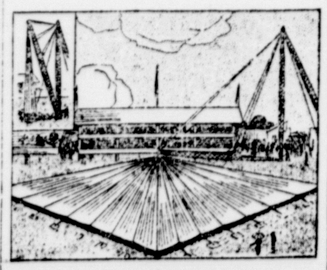

Canvas Tarpaulin Screen, Attached to Hangers, Sliding on Cables, Makes Sloping Roof.

To protect baseball diamonds and other athletic fields from rain and avoid postponement of games on account of "wet grounds," two St. Louis inventors have devised and patented a cover that may be spread over the field when it is not in use. The cover is arranged in two forms to be used with or without a grandstand. In one form, cables are run out from drums

under the eaves of the grandstand and anchored beyond the outside baseline; a canvas or tarpaulin cover, attached to hangers sliding on the cables, makes a sloping roof over the "skinned" portion of the field, says the Popular Mechanics. In the other form, the cover is supported by a steel mast and swinging boom placed near the field. When the boom is swung out

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 27, 1914.

People who are familiar with affairs in Mexico express the opinion that President Wilson is making another blunder in insisting that the land of that country be redistributed. Attention is called to the fact that fifty years ago the Indians did own the land on which they worked, but that they invariably sold out at the first chance, spending the proceeds recklessly and sinking into a condition of peonage. There is every reason to believe that if they were given back their holdings they would repeat the previous performance. We all know how carefully the United States has had to watch its own Indians to prevent them from selling their lands, and that this guardianship has not been any too successful. It is an invariable trait of the savage to sell anything he has, without thought of the future. Moreover, the Mexcan Indian is doomed to poverty anyway. The Government has established several agricultural colleges, but the peons who have attended them and have been graduated have returned to their homes and resumed the old agricultural methods. It is a big contract for the United States to attempt to improve the condition of people who are unwilling to learn and who will not use knowledge after it is forced upon them.

After generations of clamor, home rule has been granted to Ireland. Quite a quantity of red tape must be handled before it goes into actual effect, but there is no possibility of a reversal of the action of Parliament. There has been much talk of an uprising in Ulster, but if it occurs it is not likely to amount to much. There is no solid basis for hostility between the Irish [illegible] hatred which they feel toward each other is due to ignorance. One person out of each dozen in Ireland is unable to read and write. Several others out of each dozen just escape the brand of illiteracy, but they can by no stretch of description be called educated. To such people the Pope and various religious doctrines are a constant incitement to fighting. The destinies of the island, however, will be controlled by enlightened men, and the common people will soon see that there is no danger of religious tyranny, and that the interests of all Irishmen are identical. When feeling finally settles down on this basis we shall see whether home rule is the grand thing which Celtic orators and writers have been telling us. We shall see whether it will make the Emerald Isle more prosperous and happy. If such be the event, everybody will rejoice. If not, as is more likely, we shall all mourn over the tremendous waste of energy which has been employed to get—nothing.

After asserting over and over again that he would not stand for class legislation, and declaring that there must be no exemptions under the anti-trust law, President Wilson has surprised everybody by suddenly agreeing to a "compromise" with the labor leaders under the terms of which their organizations appear to be placed above the law. Fraternal societies and agricultural associations are put in the same class, but that amounts to nothing, since they do not require or desire such discrimination, so far as we have heard. The section of the bill as it stands provides that the organizations in question shall not be "prevented from organizing and carrying out their legitimate objects," which is an entirely unobjectionable provision. To this is to be added the clause: "Nor shall such organizations, orders or associations or the members thereof be held or construed to be illegal combinations or conspiracies in restraint of trade under the anti-trust laws." This seems plain enough to the layman, but lawyers say that the language is ambiguous and will have to be interpreted by the courts, and this gives the President a shadow of an excuse for saying that the provision is not what it appears to be. The section forbidding the issuing of injunctions against "peaceful assemblages, picketing and boycotting," is amended by adding the words: "Nor shall any of the acts specified in this paragraph be construed or held to be unlawful." In plain language, boycotting and picketing are legalized, and the requirement that they shall be "peaceful" is only a joke. The country now sees that President Wilson, in spite of his lofty pretences, is nothing but a plain politician of the common barnyard variety, ready to forget his professed principles at any time in the face of political exigencies.

"THOROUGH."

It was Charles Kingsley who wrote "If there is one rule above another which I wish to impress upon those who are starting out in life, it is this—take pains. Take trouble. Whatever you begin finish. It may not seem worth your while at the moment to be so very painstaking and exact. In after years you will find that it was worth while, that it has paid you by training your character, paid you by giving you success in life, paid you by giving you the trust and respect of others."

And is it true?

Well, if it were not true one fancies that the star of Lillian Nordica, for instance, would have set long ago, instead of remaining bright down to the last. Or, would it ever have risen but for her ceaseless work? For with her career ended by death, we recall that she had not the advantage of temperament to lift her up into the skies through sheer inspiration, nor of a voice that was faultless, but that the quality of her art was kept a-glow by an exquisite brand of good old work, of the steadfast, even variety.

And for that reason, the career of the American singer, written large as it was with her fine resolution and her indomitable work and study, ought to stand as an inspiration to aspirants for lyric or any other honors. For it was not the perfection of her gift that brought her international reputation, rather the mavelous trick of taking pains, a trick that carried her over many obstacles to a point where the proudest victory perched. But neither her art nor her victory dropped from the cluods; and wherever one reads a line telling of the great honors she won, there's another line recording the significant why for her triumph.

She had her triumph, but through it all Kingsley might well have been whispering his advice insistently in her ear, so closely were the warning followed.

In a brief little chat with an engineer the other day the doctrine of thoroughness was preached rather forcefully again. He was supposed [illegible]st to stand at te helm to direct [illegible]d to see that the rest followed his [illegible] work of real contact [illegible] and machinery.

With a queer little smile, half in pity and half in disgust, he explained that his helpers were so inefficient, so careless, so slip-shod and uncertain that he much preferred to don his old clothes and get down to the heart of the work—for then he was sure it was thorough.

But the helpers? They are young now, in the very hey-day of their industrial possibilities, but the time is slipping along and they are not learning that the way to rise a little higher in their work every year, and possibly to outride its boundaries entirely and on to higher fields, is to be painstaking and exact. They do not realize that into their careless work, as it goes on day after day, they are building their future chances and that in losing their title to trust they are effectively paving the way to failure. Let chance come knocking at their door, and it will run away when it finds them following their work in the easiest way, with never a care for accuracy and never a thought of results.

By and by, the engineer will be looking about for helpers who are willing to take pains and be thorough in the tasks before them, whether it is to sweep the floor or to set the machinery in motion. And then they will wonder why they were sent adrift, because the engineer may not stop to remind them that they failed to be faithful over the little things.

Down in Aiken, S. C., is a school conducted for colored boys and girls. For its motto it has chosen no high-sounding Latin text, but rather the impressive word, "Thorough." Not in one spot alone does the insistent little sentinel stand, urging its warning to the students, but in the many, for the word is conspicuously lettered in scattered places on the walls of the institution, and the students cannot escape it if they would.

The school was established years ago by a Northern woman, who perhaps realized that those boys and girls in the Southland must meet the dual handicap of color and prejudice and would need to act upon the principle of thoroughness in every undertaking, whether great or small. Down there where the skies are soft and the climate not very invigorating, it is tempting to drift and to skim school work; but all the classes that have come and gone have felt the force of that quiet injunction, for the "Thorough" has never deserted its sentinel posts.

And up here—well, our climate is [illegible] we have [illegible] and girls and our [illegible] and women who never have learned that it pays to take pains. All else apart—the victory to one's self that always waits upon labors well done and all that—nobody knows what opportunities may be missed just because of the bad little trick of slighting.

"Thorough?" Perhaps it might be well for all of us to pin that fine little motto somewhere in full sight, because it may help carry us through to the port of our dreams—who knows?

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 27, 1914.

People who are familiar with affairs in Mexico express the opinion that President Wilson is making another blunder in insisting that the land of that country be redistributed. Attention is called to the fact that fifty years ago the Indians did own the land on which they worked, but that they invariably sold out at the first chance, spending the proceeds recklessly and sinking into a condition of peonage. There is every reason to believe that if they were given back their holdings they would repeat the previous performance. We all know how carefully the United States has had to watch its own Indians to prevent them from selling their lands, and that this guardianship has not been any too successful. It is an invariable trait of the savage to sell anything he has, without thought of the future. Moreover, the Mexcan Indian is doomed to poverty anyway. The Government has established several agricultural colleges, but the peons who have attended them and have been graduated have returned to their homes and resumed the old agricultural methods. It is a big contract for the United States to attempt to improve the condition of people who are unwilling to learn and who will not use knowledge after it is forced upon them.

After generations of clamor, home rule has been granted to Ireland. Quite a quantity of red tape must be handled before it goes into actual effect, but there is no possibility of a reversal of the action of Parliament. There has been much talk of an uprising in Ulster, but if it occurs it is not likely to amount to much. There is no solid basis for hostility between the [illegible] they feel toward each other is due to ignorance. One person out of each dozen in Ireland is unable to read and write. Several others out of each dozen just escape the brand of illiteracy, but they can by no stretch of description be called educated. To such people the Pope and various religious doctrines are a constant incitement to fighting. The destinies of the island, however, will be controlled by enlightened men, and the common people will soon see that there is no danger of religious tyranny, and that the interests of all Irishmen are identical. When feeling finally settles down on this basis we shall see whether home rule is the grand thing which Celtic orators and writers have been telling us. We shall see whether it will make the Emerald Isle more prosperous and happy. If such be the event, everybody will rejoice. If not, as is more likely, we shall all mourn over the tremendous waste of energy which has been employed to get—nothing.

After asserting over and over again that he would not stand for class legislation, and declaring that there must be no exemptions under the anti-trust law, President Wilson has surprised everybody by suddenly agreeing to a "compromise" with the labor leaders under the terms of which their organizations appear to be placed above the law. Fraternal societies and agricultural associations are put in the same class, but that amounts to nothing, since they do not require or desire such discrimination, so far as we have heard. The section of the bill as it stands provides that the organizations in question shall not be "prevented from organizing and carrying out their legitimate objects," which is an entirely unobjectionable provision. To this is to be added the clause: "Nor shall such organizations, orders or associations or the members thereof be held or construed to be illegal combinations or conspiracies in restraint of trade under the anti-trust laws." This seems plain enough to the layman, but lawyers say that the language is ambiguous and will have to be interpreted by the courts, and this gives the President a shadow of an excuse for saying that the provision is not what it appears to be. The section forbidding the issuing of injunctions against "peaceful assemblages, picketing and boycotting," is amended by adding the words: "Nor shall any of the acts specified in this paragraph be construed or held to be unlawful." In plain language, boycotting and picketing are legalized, and the requirement that they shall be "peaceful" is only a joke. The country now sees that President Wilson, in spite of his lofty pretences, is nothing but a plain politician of the common barnyard variety, ready to forget his professed principles at any time in the face of political exigencies.

"THOROUGH."

It was Charles Kingsley who wrote "If there is one rule above another which I wish to impress upon those who are starting out in life, it is this—take pains. Take trouble. Whatever you begin finish. It may not seem worth your while at the moment to be so very painstaking and exact. In after years you will find that it was worth while, that it has paid you by training your character, paid you by giving you success in life, paid you by giving you the trust and respect of others."

And is it true?

Well, if it were not true one fancies that the star of Lillian Nordica, for instance, would have set long ago, instead of remaining bright down to the last. Or, would it ever have risen but for her ceaseless work? For with her career ended by death, we recall that she had not the advantage of temperament to lift her up into the skies through sheer inspiration, nor of a voice that was faultless, but that the quality of her art was kept a-glow by an exquisite brand of good old work, of the steadfast, even variety.

And for that reason, the career of the American singer, written large as it was with her fine resolution and her indomitable work and study, ought to stand as an inspiration to aspirants for lyric or any other honors. For it was not the perfection of her gift that brought her international reputation, rather the mavelous trick of taking pains, a trick that carried her over many obstacles to a point where the proudest victory perched. But neither her art nor her victory dropped from the cluods; and wherever one reads a line telling of the great honors she won, there's another line recording the significant why for her triumph.

She had her triumph, but through it all Kingsley might well have been whispering his advice insistently in her ear, so closely were the warning followed.

In a brief little chat with an engineer the other day the doctrine of thoroughness was preached rather forcefully again. He was supposed [illegible] to stand at te helm to direct [illegible] to see that the rest followed his [illegible] and machinery.

With a queer little smile, half in pity and half in disgust, he explained that his helpers were so inefficient, so careless, so slip-shod and uncertain that he much preferred to don his old clothes and get down to the heart of the work—for then he was sure it was thorough.

But the helpers? They are young now, in the very hey-day of their industrial possibilities, but the time is slipping along and they are not learning that the way to rise a little higher in their work every year, and possibly to outride its boundaries entirely and on to higher fields, is to be painstaking and exact. They do not realize that into their careless work, as it goes on day after day, they are building their future chances and that in losing their title to trust they are effectively paving the way to failure. Let chance come knocking at their door, and it will run away when it finds them following their work in the easiest way, with never a care for accuracy and never a thought of results.

By and by, the engineer will be looking about for helpers who are willing to take pains and be thorough in the tasks before them, whether it is to sweep the floor or to set the machinery in motion. And then they will wonder why they were sent adrift, because the engineer may not stop to remind them that they failed to be faithful over the little things.

Down in Aiken, S. C., is a school conducted for colored boys and girls. For its motto it has chosen no high-sounding Latin text, but rather the impressive word, "Thorough." Not in one spot alone does the insistent little sentinel stand, urging its warning to the students, but in the many, for the word is conspicuously lettered in scattered places on the walls of the institution, and the students cannot escape it if they would.

The school was established years ago by a Northern woman, who perhaps realized that those boys and girls in the Southland must meet the dual handicap of color and prejudice and would need to act upon the principle of thoroughness in every undertaking, whether great or small. Down there where the skies are soft and the climate not very invigorating, it is tempting to drift and to skim school work; but all the classes that have come and gone have felt the force of that quiet injunction, for the "Thorough" has never deserted its sentinel posts.

And up here—well, our climate is [illegible] girls and [illegible] and women who never have learned that it pays to take pains. All else apart—the victory to one's self that always waits upon labors well done and all that—nobody knows what opportunities may be missed just because of the bad little trick of slighting.

"Thorough?" Perhaps it might be well for all of us to pin that fine little motto somewhere in full sight, because it may help carry us through to the port of our dreams—who knows?

WITNESS FEES DISPUTED.

New York City Objects to Paying Disbursements of Trial.

A hearing was had Tuesday afternoon before Daniel B. Deyo, as referee, in the matter of taxing the disbursements for witness fees and disbursements of Rollin D. Patchin and others and the estate of John C. Hoornbeek, whose mill property at Boiceville was acquired by the city of New York. The Patchin-Hoornbeek claim was tried twice. Each of the commissions which tried the claim recommended the amounts to be paid for witnesses fees and disbursements for the trial had before that commission, and on a motion before Judge Hasbrouck some time ago it was contended by the city of New York that the city was not liable for costs for both trials. Mr. Deyo was appointed referee to take the testimony of witnesses, and on Monday afternoon the testimony of William S. Green of Richmond, Va., formerly of this city, who was one of the witnesses for the claimants, was taken. The matter was adjourned for further hearing until June 17 and 18. Judge Van Etten appeared for the claimants; Assistant Corporation Counsel Lewis C. White of New York city and William McM. Speer, special counsel, appeared for the city of New York.

The Giant Paraguayan Wasp.

The wasps of Paraguay are really terrible, writes F. W. Paeis in the June Wide World. Just on the edges of the little forest glades and along the banks of streams and rivulets is where they love to build their hanging nests, and it requires a good deal of courage to break into such places, as it is by no means easy to detect the presence of a nest until the creatures actually rush out to the attack, as they do with great fierceness.

The writer—before his experience of wasps had ripened—once broke in bareheaded amongst the guava bushes and small shrubs that border these glades; but, in the words of the poet, "Never again!" Seven stings on the top of his head, two on the back of his neck, and one on his nose placed him completely hors de combat for two hours, and the pain and soreness afterwards lasted for several days.

What do you do to get past a wasp's nest? Well ,two or three of the men each get a thick, leafy bough of some tough kind of shrub, and, with a rush, get as near to the nest as they can, smashing about with their crude weapons till a direct blow at the nest is possible. It is easily knocked to the ground, where such wasps as are clinging to it—and a good many invariably remain on the nest—are soon beaten senseless. Meanwhile another man or two, protected by the beaters, soon cut down the bush or shrub on which the nest had been built and drag it away at a run. With the nest broken up and the surroundings changed, none of the stray wasps that may have survived the beating and swishing can recognize the spot and will no longer attack the men who continue their cutting and cleanring and soon pass beyond the danger zone.

WITNESS FEES DISPUTED.

New York City Objects to Paying Disbursements of Trial.

A hearing was had Tuesday afternoon before Daniel B. Deyo, as referee, in the matter of taxing the disbursements for witness fees and disbursements of Rollin D. Patchin and others and the estate of John C. Hoornbeek, whose mill property at Boiceville was acquired by the city of New York. The Patchin-Hoornbeek claim was tried twice. Each of the commissions which tried the claim recommended the amounts to be paid for witnesses fees and disbursements for the trial had before that commission, and on a motion before Judge Hasbrouck some time ago it was contended by the city of New York that the city was not liable for costs for both trials. Mr. Deyo was appointed referee to take the testimony of witnesses, and on Monday afternoon the testimony of William S. Green of Richmond, Va., formerly of this city, who was one of the witnesses for the claimants, was taken. The matter was adjourned for further hearing until June 17 and 18. Judge Van Etten appeared for the claimants; Assistant Corporation Counsel Lewis C. White of New York city and William McM. Speer, special counsel, appeared for the city of New York.

The Giant Paraguayan Wasp.

The wasps of Paraguay are really terrible, writes F. W. Paels in the June Wide World. Just on the edges of the little forest glades and along the banks of streams and rivulets is where they love to build their hanging nests, and it requires a good deal of courage to break into such places, as it is by no means easy to detect the presence of a nest until the creatures actually rush out to the attack, as they do with great fierceness.

The writer—before his experience of wasps had ripened—once broke in bareheaded amongst the guava bushes and small shrubs that border these glades; but, in the words of the poet, "Never again!" Seven stings on the top of his head, two on the back of his neck, and one on his nose placed him completely hors de combat for two hours, and the pain and soreness afterwards lasted for several days.

What do you do to get past a wasp's nest? Well ,two or three of the men each get a thick, leafy bough of some tough kind of shrub, and, with a rush, get as near to the nest as they can, smashing about with their crude weapons till a direct blow at the nest is possible. It is easily knocked to the ground, where such wasps as are clinging to it—and a good many invariably remain on the nest—are soon beaten senseless. Meanwhile another man or two, protected by the beaters, soon cut down the bush or shrub on which the nest had been built and drag it away at a run. With the nest broken up and the surroundings changed, none of the stray wasps that may have survived the beating and swishing can recognize the spot and will no longer attack the men who continue their cutting and cleanring and soon pass beyond the danger zone.

Probably if you were to ask a hundred natives what they feared most in cutting through the forest—snakes, spiders, centipedes, "wild" Indians, tigers, or wasps—ninety-nine of them would answer "Wasps."

ORANGE COUNTY CITIZENS' LEAGUE

The first annual meeting of the Citizens' League of Orange county, New York, was held Monday at the Y. M. C. A Hall, Newburgh. The morning session opened at 11 o'clock by President Charles Boyd. Prayer was offered by the Rev. S. Ferwenda. The president then appointed a committee on nomination, resolution and constitution. Following this was the president's address, in which he said that the first meeting for organizing the Citizens' League or Orange county was held at Middletown, last fall. Meetings followed in other parts of the county, under the direction of the superintendent, Dr. William Pringle, but at the time Dr. Pringle was engaged almost exclusively in the Dutchess county organization so that he did not begin work in Orange county until the 15th of January. Since then he has devoted his time to organization in Orange county, so the league in reality is only five months old, but they held their annual meeting Monday, as it was the closing up of the work of Orange county as conducted by Dr. Pringle, the superintendent.

The league was launched forth Monday, at its first annual meeting, with a large, enthusiastic body of men and women. Following the president's address, the Rev. Ralph W. Rowland of Circleville, who has been assistant superintendent under Dr. Pringle during the past five months, gave his report which showed a large amount of work and the best results followed. Ten towns in Orange county have been organized with town leagues. Somewhere over thirty meetings have been held in various parts of the county. Middletown and Newburgh and the village of Cornwall each have a league.

At one o'clock all delegates and guests present were invited upstairs to the dining room where a fine luncheon was served by the Y. M. C. A. organization. It might here be said that Newburgh has a new and handsome building, finely equipped, for its Y. M. C. A. The secretary and those in charge of the hall were most kind and attentive and loyal in their assistance to make the league day one of success. After the luncheon the delegates again assembled in the hall upstairs, when the nominating committee reported the names of those they would suggest as officers for the county league. The executive committee is as follows: President, Dr. Carlos Stone, Cornwall; first vice-president, Lewis J. Stage, Warwick; second vice-president, Mrs. F. Delano Hitch, Newburgh; third vice-president, Frederick E. Stockwell, Newburgh; fourth vice-president, F. H. Boyd, Florida; secretary, C. E. Deary, Middletown; treasurer, J. Wessels, Newburgh; chairman field committee, the Rev. Forest P. Hunter, Middletown; superintendent, the Rev. Ralph W. Rowland, Circleville; district superintendent, Dr. William Pringle.

The new president is the founder and proprietor of a large school for boys at Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, and the Citizens' League of Orange county can be congratulated upon having secured Dr. Stone to take the presidency of the county organization. He is a man of large influential experience and just the right man to lead an organization of the kind, because of his ability and experience. Another very important selection made as an official is the selection of the Rev. Frank W. Rowland of Circleville as county superintendent, for he has had the personal association in the work of organizing in the past five months and is well equipped to carry on the work. Already three counties are organized in the Hudson valley district, and each of them have a paid superintendent—William Obre of Rhinebeck, superintendent of Dutchess county; the Rev. Ralph W. Rowland of Circleville, superintendent of Orange county; and the Rev. W. H. Seiple of Alligerville, superintendent of Uster county. Dr. Pringle was unanimously elected district superintendent at the meeting Monday to have oversight of the work in Orange county The Rev. S. Ferwenda of Campbell Hall, chairman of the committee on constitution, submitted the report of the committee, which was voted upon by delegates present. The Rev. Arthur Thompson, D. D., chairman of the committee on resolutions, presented a very important resolution, asking that Congressman Platt of that district be requested to state his position concerning the Hobson resolution.

Among the visitors present were the Rev. W. H. Seiple, county superintendent of Ulster county, the Rev. John Anthony of Connelly, and Dr. C. O. Sahler of Kingston, all members of the Ulster County Citizens' League.

A fine address was delivered at the afternoon session by Miss Sloat of Newburgh, president of the County W. C. T. U., and Miss Nelson, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., of Orange county. Mrs. Woods, secretary of the Associated Charity Association, Newburgh, Miss Robinson, of Yonkers, secretary of the Yonkers association of equal suffrage, Mr. Wilcox, county secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and Mr. Vose, secretary of the Y. M C. A. organization, Newburgh, spoke.

At the night session addresses were delivered by the Rev. Ralph W. Rowland of Circleville, Dr. Charles H. Mattison of Warwick, Mrs. Robinson of Yonkers and the Rev. S. S. Smithers, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, Middletown. Dr. Pringle, district superintendent, made the closing address.

Selfishness.

Selfishness assumes many forms, and in every one of them may be found the desire to grasp some fancied means of happiness, even at the expense of others. Many things innocently pleasurable in themselves, when they come to us in a rightful and natural manner, turn into guilty and fraudulent possessions when sought and gained through the losses or pain of others.

ORANGE COUNTY CITIZENS' LEAGUE

The first annual meeting of the Citizens' League of Orange county, New York, was held Monday at the Y. M. C. A Hall, Newburgh. The morning session opened at 11 o'clock by President Charles Boyd. Prayer was offered by the Rev. S. Ferwenda. The president then appointed a committee on nomination, resolution and constitution. Following this was the president's address, in which he said that the first meeting for organizing the Citizens' League or Orange county was held at Middletown, last fall. Meetings followed in other parts of the county, under the direction of the superintendent, Dr. William Pringle, but at the time Dr. Pringle was engaged almost exclusively in the Dutchess county organization so that he did not begin work in Orange county until the 15th of January. Since then he has devoted his time to organization in Orange county, so the league in reality is only five months old, but they held their annual meeting Monday, as it was the closing up of the work of Orange county as conducted by Dr. Pringle, the superintendent.

The league was launched forth Monday, at its first annual meeting, with a large, enthusiastic body of men and women. Following the president's address, the Rev. Ralph W. Rowland of Circleville, who has been assistant superintendent under Dr. Pringle during the past five months, gave his report which showed a large amount of work and the best results followed. Ten towns in Orange county have been organized with town leagues. Somewhere over thirty meetings have been held in various parts of the county. Middletown and Newburgh and the village of Cornwall each have a league.

At one o'clock all delegates and guests present were invited upstairs to the dining room where a fine luncheon was served by the Y. M. C. A. organization. It might here be said that Newburgh has a new and handsome building, finely equipped, for its Y. M. C. A. The secretary and those in charge of the hall were most kind and attentive and loyal in their assistance to make the league day one of success. After the luncheon the delegates again assembled in the hall upstairs, when the nominating committee reported the names of those they would suggest as officers for the county league. The executive committee is as follows: President, Dr. Carlos Stone, Cornwall; first vice-president, Lewis J. Stage, Warwick; second vice-president, Mrs. F. Delano Hitch, Newburgh; third vice-president, Frederick E. Stockwell, Newburgh; fourth vice-president, F. H. Boyd, Florida; secretary, C. E. Deary, Middletown; treasurer, J. Wessels, Newburgh; chairman field committee, the Rev. Forest P. Hunter, Middletown; superintendent, the Rev. Ralph W. Rowland, Circleville; district superintendent, Dr. William Pringle.

The new president is the founder and proprietor of a large school for boys at Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, and the Citizens' League of Orange county can be congratulated upon having secured Dr. Stone to take the presidency of the county organization. He is a man of large influential experience and just the right man to lead an organization of the kind, because of his ability and experience. Another very important selection made as an official is the selection of the Rev. Frank W. Rowland of Circleville as county superintendent, for he has had the personal association in the work of organizing in the past five months and is well equipped to carry on the work. Already three counties are organized in the Hudson valley district, and each of them have a paid superintendent—William Obre of Rhinebeck, superintendent of Dutchess county; the Rev. Ralph W. Rowland of Circleville, superintendent of Orange county; and the Rev. W. H. Seiple of Alligerville, superintendent of Ulster county. Dr. Pringle was unanimously elected district superintendent at the meeting Monday to have oversight of the work in Orange county. The Rev. S. Ferwenda of Campbell Hall, chairman of the committee on constitution, submitted the report of the committee, which was voted upon by delegates present. The Rev. Arthur Thompson, D. D., chairman of the committee on resolutions, presented a very important resolution, asking that Congressman Platt of that district be requested to state his position concerning the Hobson resolution.

Among the visitors present were the Rev. W. H. Seiple, county superintendent of Ulster county, the Rev. John Anthony of Connelly, and Dr. C. O. Sahler of Kingston, all members of the Ulster County Citizens' League.

A fine address was delivered at the afternoon session by Miss Sloat of Newburgh, president of the County W. C. T. U., and Miss Nelson, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., of Orange county. Mrs. Woods, secretary of the Associated Charity Association, Newburgh, Miss Robinson, of Yonkers, secretary of the Yonkers association of equal suffrage, Mr. Wilcox, county secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and Mr. Vose, secretary of the Y. M C. A. organization, Newburgh, spoke.

Selfishness.

Selfishness assumes many forms, and in every one of them may be found the desire to grasp some fancied means of happiness, even at the expense of others. Many things innocently pleasurable in themselves, when they come to us in a rightful and natural manner, turn into guilty and fraudulent possessions when sought and gained through the losses or pain of others.

FIREMEN WILL BE PAID SEMI-MONTHLY

As the result of the suggestion of Mayor Canfield, the board of fire commissioners on Tuesday night decided to pay the paid firemen of the city semi-monthly instead of once a month as heretofore. William J. C. Geary, now a substitute fireman, was advanced to a paid fireman to take effect June 1. Permission was granted James V. Madden to enter the state firemen's home at Hudson. A balance in the treasury of $12,175.84 was reported by Clerk Hornbeck. Chief Chipp reported four bell alarms and five telephone alarms during the month. Exempt certificates were ordered issued to E. H. Albright, Joseph McLean, Dayton Murray, Leon W. Hull and Raymond Van Buren. The vacations for the firemen were fixed as follows: June 1-16, Albright and Conlin; June 16 to July 1, Weber and McElrath; July 6 to 21, Canfield and Geary; July 21 to August 5, Hoffman and Brown; August 5 to 20, Maines and Strubel; August 20 to September 5, Deputy Chief Murphy; September 5 to 22, Fire Chief Chipp.

ONE MORE MAY EXPIATE MURDER OF "SQUEALING GAMBLER."

Jacob Reich, better known in New York as "Jack Sullivan," the king of the newsboys, who bitterly denounced District Attorney Whitman while testifying at the recent trial of former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, twice convicted of instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the "squealing gambler." The District Attorney's office is now working up evidence to begin prosecuting Sullivan who was also indicted as a party to the conspiracy to murder Rosenthal.

How Astrachan is Prepared.

The big nomad tribes, the Kashgai and Arabs, bring immense flocks of sheep each spring and autumn to the Shiraz market. The Russian dealers pay large sums in advance to obtain everything from the chieftains, who often deliver as many as forty to fifty thousand skins at one time.

Before these lambskins are ready to be packed in bales they undergo a very careful and lengthy preparation to preserve them. All leave Persia in a salted state, the final tanning being done in Europe.

The preliminary cleaning of the lambskin or astrachan is done in running water, to get rid of impurities on the fleshy side of the skins, which are scraped with long, blunt-edged knives. Then follows the salting, which is done in large tanks or earthen vessels capable of holding three to five hundred skins each. The skins remain in pickle some ten to fourteen days, and are then taken out one by one and spread on a table, where they are once more carefully examined and scraped.

This finished, they are spread out in the sun to dry for twelve hours or so, by which time they are bone-dry, but very dirty, for flour, salt, and water have formed a paste, and the fine curls are all stuck together and full of lumps. To get rid of these the skins are once more washed in running water. They are next thoroughly rinsed, well shaken, and placed wooly side down on the sun-warmed pebbles of the river-bed. Before they have time to dry hard they are sprinkled all over with a thin coating of fine barley flour.

At sunset they are taken up and handed to the classers. Each skin is stamped with its quality mark, and then they are stacked in pairs, wool against wool, and tied round the legs with red string, after which they are ready for making up into bales.—From the June Wide World.

Ruling Through Fear.

Never allow a child to be frightened. This is one of the cruelest ways of making him behave. We do not realize the horrors to a small child of a dark room that has been peopled with mysterious things waiting to clutch and gobble him. Many a little tot lies awake shivering and shaking with an unknown fear until sleep comes through sheer exhaustion. He awakens unrefreshed, with heavy eyes, irritable, with a distaste for his food and ready to cry if looked at. This is, nine times out of ten, put down to naughtiness, when it is really the result of a nervous strain.

A little girl of three was put to bed one night by a servant, who told her, "Now, you go to sleep or the black man under the bed will eat you." And she turned out the light and left her. The child's mother was dressing to go to the opera. She was neither a thoughtless nor a careless mother. But she thought for one night it would do no harm to have the servant put the child to bed. When she was dressed fully an hour after the child had been put to bed she tiptoed into her room to see if she was all right before she left the house.

Carefully she bent over the crib, only to bump into a rigid little figure sitting stiffly up in the middle of the bed, her night clothes so wet with perspiration that they stuck to her little body, while her head was burning hot. As she heard her mother's exclamation of surprise she gave a heartrending shriek and fell into her mother's arms unconscious.

For one hour that baby had been sitting in that dark room in an agony of dread, not daring to call out for fear of that awful thing under the bed. For days she raved in delirium, and it took years for her to overcome her fear of the dark.

The Baby's Teeth.

At one year a child should have six teeth. At one and a half years a child should have twelve teeth. At two years a child should have sixteen teeth. At two and a half years a child should have twenty teeth.

In at least 50 per cent of normal children the appearance of the teeth takes place without any constitutional disturbance. Many symptoms in an infant are ascribed to "teething," but it is rare indeed that any serious constitutional disturbance is due to the teeth alone.

A doctor should always be called in if there are any signs other than a slight fretfulness. More serious signs than this usually mean that there is some underlying cause, and that not the eruption of the teeth alone is responsible for the mischief.

Drugs should seldom be resorted to except on the advice of a doctor. If the gum above the erupting tooth is very tense and red it is better to gently rub the part with cotton wool soaked in glycerin and borax than to use a lance.

Children's Tan Shoes.

When children's tan shoes look discolored or shabby they may be renovated as follows: Mix a little liquid ammonia with a gill of milk, put into a bottle. Shake the bottle well and apply a little of the liquid with a sponge to the discolored tan shoes. Leave it to dry, and the result will be a pretty tan shade. If the bottle is kept tightly corked the mixture will last for months.

When after many cleanings children's white shoes look gray and shabby they can be made a pretty brown by applying saffron. Mix ten drops of saffron with three teaspoonfuls of olive oil. Clean shoes well before applying the mixture, as all dark spots will show. Apply with a piece of clean flannel, and after two coats they will look like new.

Sucking the Thumb.

Large lips and prominent teeth are frequently the result of allowing a child to suck the thumb. This habit is hard to overcome if allowed to continue any length of time, and it may be stopped by putting aloes on the unruly member. Aloes is a powdered herb, bitter but perfectly harmless. One taste of this herb will usually cure the child of its habit. If this does not suffice put mittens of cotton on the child's hands. In a few days he will forget all about his thumb.

Massage For Children.

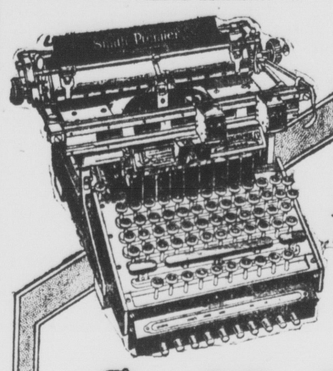

Children can scarcely be too young for massage if it is administered gently and carefully. It develops their muscles in a marvelous manner. In massaging the baby the mother should put a little oil on her hand, which she should warm first. After the bath is the best time to massage. Twice a day is not too often if she has the time. Massage will strengthen baby's legs and help to correct any inclination to bandiness. Keep the little one off his feet as much as possible.

Ink Stained Aprons.

If children's aprons have been stained with ink collect them the night before washing day. Lay the ink spots in a saucer of milk and spread on them some common salt. Leave all night and wash as usual next day. After the garments have been boiled no trace of the ink spots will be found.

Easy Way to Clean a Carpet.

Instead of sweeping your stair carpet try wiping it over with a damp cloth. Use a teaspoonful of ammonia in two quarts of warm water. Your carpet will look clean and bright and there will be no dust.

FIREMEN WILL BE PAID SEMI-MONTHLY

As the result of the suggestion of Mayor Canfield, the board of fire commissioners on Tuesday night decided to pay the paid firemen of the city semi-monthly instead of once a month as heretofore. William J. C. Geary, now a substitute fireman, was advanced to a paid fireman to take effect June 1. Permission was granted James V. Madden to enter the state firemen's home at Hudson. A balance in the treasury of $12,175.84 was reported by Clerk Hornbeck. Chief Chipp reported four bell alarms and five telephone alarms during the month. Exempt certificates were ordered issued to E. H. Albright, Joseph McLean, Dayton Murray, Leon W. Hull and Raymond Van Buren. The vacations for the firemen were fixed as follows: June 1-16, Albright and Conlin; June 16 to July 1, Weber and McElrath; July 6 to 21, Canfield and Geary; July 21 to August 5, Hoffman and Brown; August 5 to 20, Maines and Strubel; August 20 to September 5, Deputy Chief Murphy; September 5 to 22, Fire Chief Chipp.

PORCUPINE PERIL HAS PASSED BY

The sequel to the porcupine hunt for the animal lost by John D. Schoomaker of West Chestnut street has been written. It is inscribed on the police blotter at the city hall:

"Complaint made that a porcupine is lying in the road in front of 16 Andrews street. Reported to be very ripe. Street Superintendent Van Keuren notified."

In these few words the demise of the porcupine is written on the city's police records although as yet nothing official has been filed with Max Kaplan, registar of vital statistics. It is touching that the young life should have been shuffled off on its first visit to Kingston and within a few hours of its arrival in the city.

The resting place of the porcupine has not been disclosed, but probably Street Superintendent Van Keuren has ordered one of his men to cart it away to some obscure dump where the carcass will not offend the olfactory nerves of the citizens of Kingston.

NEW GARDINER PASTOR.

Reception Given Him by Albany Friends This Evening.

John Neander, an Albany boy, preparing for the ministry at Rutgers College, passed the first two final examinations Tuesday afternoon at the Holland Reformed Church, in this city. Young Neander will take the second examination Friday and plans for the ordination are being made.

Members of the congregation of the Holland Reformed Church, are making extensive arrangements for a reception to be tendered by them to young Neander at the church tonight. The pastor, the Rev. H. Dykhuizen, will preside and a large attendance is expected.

Young Neander is a son of Mrs. Helen Neander, of Third avenue, Albany, and a grandson of the Rev. John Neander, a former Brooklyn minister. He went to Rutgers in 1907, after graduating from the Albany high school. In 1911, he completed his studies at Rutgers and he has just completed his theological course.

Before becoming a regularly appointed minister of the church, it is necessary for graduates to take final examinations. One of these is held in his home church and the next is held at the church with which he is to be connected. It is probable that the ordination exercises will be held next Tuesday and plans for this event are being made. The ordination will take place in his new field.

Young Neander has already accepted a call to the Reformed Church at Gardiner, this state, where Friday's examination will be held. The church he is to become pastor of is said to be a flourishing one and friends of the Albanian are predicting immediate success for him when he begins his work with the congregation.

The Sunday school of the Holland Church, of this city, will probably have its full membership on hand tonight to participate in the reception. Young Neander was always prominently identified with the school, before he went to college.—Albany Argus.

Those who were entertained at the Idylkrest Farm on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Friend Wilkison, John A. Baker and family of Accord and Miss Hazel Baker of Mettacahonts. A pleasant day was spent by all.

Miss Bessie and Dorothy Van Vliet and brother were out driving Monday evening.

Calvin Davis was in High Falls on Sunday.

Miss Iona Smith passed through this place Monday.

Used Bad Language.

Policeman Hess on Tuesday night arrested George Maiser, who claimed to be a Poughkeepsie baker, for being drunk and using bad language in front of the Star theater. He was discharged on his promise to get out of town.

Drunk and Disorderly.

James Augustine, colored, was arrested on Tuesday night by Policeman Dugan for being drunk and disorderly. He was discharged with a reprimand.

SHOWING CONFIDENCE.

It Has a Strong Influence In Making Business and Good Times.

Preachments about the value of optimism are a trifle bromidic, so instead of hurrahing for optimism I have a few instances of the influence that comes from putting a good face steadily toward bad fortune, and contrariwise the bad effect of mourning because business is not better.

"How's trade?" I asked a stationer. "Trade!" he exclaimed. "Trade! There isn't any. Things are rotten." Now, if I had had any intention of buying anything from him, which I had not, that depressing statement would have gone a long way to keep me from buying.

"How's things?" I asked the boss of a men's furnishing store a few hours later. "Little quiet, just now," he smiled; "but I can't complain. We have run ahead of last year and prospects are good." I felt like buying a new hat because the cheeriness of his reply made me feel that money was coming to me.

"How's trade?" I asked a tobacconist. "Good," he replied emphatically. "Little slow today, but trade is mighty good with me, coming right along," and I bought a cigar.

Confidence is the influence that makes good times because it quickens trade. But if all business men were to croak about bad business, would not that influence make us all very careful about doing anything? We would all want to sit tight and wait. The way to get good times is to face the world hopefully and go to work. The croaker is a trade killer.—Inland Stationer.

HAD NO SENSE OF HUMOR.

He Couldn't Clearly See the Joke the Boys Had on Him.

Some people have absolutely no sense of humor. A little London urchin ran into a baker's shop and, placing a halfpenny on the counter, asked nervously and timorously, "Mister, 'ave you a 'alfpenny buster (bun)?"

"Yes, my little man. Here is one quite hot."

"Thanks, mister. Would you mind a-shovin' it down my back?"

"Down your back, my little man! Why down your back?"

"Cos, sir, I'm only a little un, and if those chaps outside know I've a buster they'll take it, and I am so 'ungry, I cry."

"Dear me, how wrong of them! Come round here, my little chap. There there, it is down your back."

The boy ran off. In an instant another entered—a bigger boy.

"I say, mister, 'as a little boy just been in 'ere?"

"Yes."

"And did 'e buy a 'alfpenny buster?"

"Yes."

"And did 'e arsk you to shove it down 'is back, as us big fellows would take it?"

"Yes."

"Yah! Where's your watch and chain? 'E's got 'em. 'E's just round the corner."

Out rushed the baker. In a trice the big boy collared the till and bolted.

The shopman never saw the comic side of the transaction at all.—London Strand Magazine.

New York.

New York is the most wonderful city in the western hemisphere. It has the tallest office buildings in the world; it has the greatest bridges on the North American continent; it has more hotels than any other city in the world; its Stock Exchange is the greatest in existence; it is the world's greatest seaport; it has the most magnificent railway stations in America; it is the greatest banking center in the country; more popular songs are published in New York than in all other cities combined; it has more Pittsburgh millionaires than Pittsburgh; it has a larger Irish population than Dublin, a larger Jewish population than Jerusalem had in its most glorious days, and, according to estimates made by some of our most able estimators, it has a larger number of native New Yorkers than Cohoes.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Bit of English Humor.

The boy entered the office as silently as possible, conscious of having taken a very long time to go a very short distance. The cashier eyed him sternly and demanded:

"Do you work here?"

"Yes," stammered the boy.

"Your name?"

"John Thompson."

The cashier gazed long and earnestly at the mystified youngster, then remarked: "Ah! Thompson. Now I remember your face. It's such a long time since I saw you last."—Manchester Guardian.

Too Much Decoration.

Mr. Smith, out walking with his small son Bobby, met Mr. Brown, a fellow architect. They strolled along together. To keep their minds in working trim, the two men patronizingly picked out the good and bad qualities of the new buildings they passed.

Presently Bobby spied a spotted dog. "Look, father," he said scornfully—"look at that dog. I don't like it. There's too much work on it!"—Everybody's.

Gave Him Variety.

"How is your rheumatism this morning?"

"Rather better."

"Has the pain disappeared, then?"

"No, but it has shifted to a new place, and that gives me something of a rest."—Philadelphia Record.

PORCUPINE PERIL HAS PASSED BY

The sequel to the porcupine hunt for the animal lost by John D. Schoomaker of West Chestnut street has been written. It is inscribed on the police blotter at the city hall:

"Complaint made that a porcupine is lying in the road in front of 16 Andrews street. Reported to be very ripe. Street Superintendent Van Keuren notified."

In these few words the demise of the porcupine is written on the city's police records although as yet nothing official has been filed with Max Kaplan, registar of vital statistics. It is touching that the young life should have been shuffled off on its first visit to Kingston and within a few hours of its arrival in the city.

The resting place of the porcupine has not been disclosed, but probably Street Superintendent Van Keuren has ordered one of his men to cart it away to some obscure dump where the carcass will not offend the olfactory nerves of the citizens of Kingston.

NEW GARDINER PASTOR.

Reception Given Him by Albany Friends This Evening.

John Neander, an Albany boy, preparing for the ministry at Rutgers College, passed the first two final examinations Tuesday afternoon at the Holland Reformed Church, in this city. Young Neander will take the second examination Friday and plans for the ordination are being made.

Members of the congregation of the Holland Reformed Church, are making extensive arrangements for a reception to be tendered by them to young Neander at the church tonight. The pastor, the Rev. H. Dykhuizen, will preside and a large attendance is expected.

Young Neander is a son of Mrs. Helen Neander, of Third avenue, Albany, and a grandson of the Rev. John Neander, a former Brooklyn minister. He went to Rutgers in 1907, after graduating from the Albany high school. In 1911 he completed his studies at Rutgers and he has just completed his theological course.

Before becoming a regularly appointed minister of the church, it is necessary for graduates to take final examinations. One of these is held in his home church and the next is held at the church with which he is to be connected. It is probable that the ordination exercises will be held next Tuesday and plans for this event are being made. The ordination will take place in his new field.

Young Neander has already accepted a call to the Reformed Church at Gardiner, this state, where Friday's examination will be held. The church he is to become pastor of is said to be a flourishing one and friends of the Albanian are predicting immediate success for him when he begins his work with the congregation.

The Sunday school of the Holland Church, of this city, will probably have its full membership on hand tonight to participate in the reception. Young Neander was always prominently identified with the school, before he went to college.—Albany Argus.

MAY ESTABLISH A SCHOLARSHIP

The question of establishing a permanent scholarship to be known as the "Kingston Scholarship" at the Peking University, Peking, China, is being seriously considered by Admiral F. J. Higginson and others who subscribed to a fund last year to pay the tuition through the university of a young man.

The matter was first taken up shortly after the first lecture of Dr. I. T. Headland in this city last year when Admiral Higginson and others took the question up and succeeded in securing contributions amounting to $210. Admiral Higginson has recently received a letter from the university thanking the subscribers for the amount they had raised and suggesting that if possible it be increased to $500, when it would become a permanent fund toward which no further contributions would be needed, and would, it is understood, educate one boy every four years, as the interest from that amount would be enough to keep a boy in the college continually.

While the matter is being considered by the subscribers to the original fund the college has assigned one boy Henry Chen, who will complete his first year in the preparatory department in June.

Henry Chen is 13 years old and has written the following interesting letter to the admiral: "I am glad to know that you are willing to support me in college, paying for me the tuition and boarding fee. It is a thing that I can never forget, and for your kindness I shall be ever grateful. In order to express my appreciation of your favor and my deep gratitude towards you I will write this letter and shall promise to write you henceforth as often as circumstances allow telling you of myself and other things that in my opinion may interest you.

"This is my first year in the preparatory department. I was promoted last fall from the intermediate school which is also under the auspices of the university. I spent four years there and was prepared for the school that I am now in. I am now 13 years of age. But within such a short period of life I have experienced two stages of life. Before 1911 I was another boy; after that terrible year the world turned against me. Since that year our happy home scene took the appearance of a tragedy. My father deserted my mother, and forsook his children, three in all.

"My father went to the states in the summer of 1908, if I remember correctly, and staid there until the fall of 1911, when the revolution broke out in China. Before he arrived at Peking a letter had come telling of his return. Such news was then a happy message. I cannot describe the joy we all, especially my mother, felt. But when his return became a fact and my father appeared in our home, misfortune was the result of the long cherished joy. At last it was agreed to live separately. This occurred in the summer of 1912. Since then my father lives alone and mother and we three children, of whom I am the eldest, live together. Who could dream of such a change? My hope is that God will have His hands in this matter. Pray that my parents will soon be reconciled. I beg to close my letter by sending my best wishes to all the other members of your family and yourself.

Yours truly,
HENRY CHEN.

BOOMING DIAZ AS NEXT PRESIDENT OF MEXICO.

General Felix Diaz, who organized the revolution that placed Huerta at the head of the Mexico City government and was later expelled from Mexico by Huerta. Representatives of Diaz are now at Niagara Falls, suggesting to the mediators and the American envoys that Diaz is the best possible candidate that could be chosen to succeed Huerta as President of Mexico. Diaz is now in Toronto awaiting the outcome of his representatives' mission.

Interest in Twilight League.

Interest in the Y. M. C. A. Twilight Baseball League is gradually increasing and already a number have signified their intention of playing. It is expected that the work of organizing the teams and selecting the captains will be taken up some time next week. The scrub games that have been held show that there is some promising baseball material in the league and later in the season some fast games may be expected. As stated before the league has been allowed to use the Andrew street grounds for evening games by the athletic committee of Ulster Academy.

Object of Life.

What do we live for, if not to make life less difficult for each other?—George Eliot.

Looking For Assailant.

The police are looking for one of the assailants of Herman Linson of North Front street, who claimed to have been held up on Monday night and assaulted. The identity of one of the men is known and the city is being searched for him. Both men were said to have been Italians.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 27.—Trading was dull at the opening of the stock market today, but some issues made substantial fractional gains. Union Pacific and U. S. Steel common each began ½ higher, but at the end of twenty minutes had shaded. Reading acted in a similar way, commencing at 166⅛ for a gain of ⅝, then going to 166. The best gain was made by Canadian Pacific which advanced 1⅞, then receded slightly. Owing to an absence of pressure small sales caused movements in some issues out of proportion to the size of transactions. Amalgamated Copper ,rose ½ to 73 and Southern Pacific gained ⅜. B. R. T. scored a slight advance within the first half hour but lost it. Inter-Met, Studebaker, Erie and St. Paul advanced fractionally. New York, New Haven & Hartford, starting at 67¾, the same price at which it closed last night, declined ⅝. The curb was steady. Americans in London were firm.

Noon.—With the exception of Canadian Pacific which continued strong and moved up 1½ to 198½, the market was almost unchanged at noon. United States Steel common advanced ⅛. Reading was a shade higher, Amagamated Copper sod around 73. Call money loaning at 1¾.

2:30 p. m.—The list held firm in the late trading. In the last hour Union Pacific sold around 158⅜ and Reading sold up to 166½ against 166⅛ at the opening. Canadian Pacific was the strongest issue on the list and rose vigorously, selling around 198⅛ for a net gain of three points on the day.

The New York stock market closed dull; governments unchanged; other bonds steady.

He finally slackened the speed of the car after it had gone some distance with but little damage to the car or the track.

WILL BASEBALL DIAMOND STARS REPEAT?

Eddie Plank, Veteran Pitcher of Athletics.

Can last year's diamond luminaries repeat, or will a new constellation hold the public eye during this season's pennant race?

This is the burning question of the hour. Judging from the early season

performances, most of the old guard will be right on the job when the safe lick means the game or the bases are loaded and the count is three and two.

The list changes just a little every year. Some veteran who has been the idol of fans falls by the wayside and one of the great army of debutants steps into the vacant niche. Among last year's number, however, there is none who is in danger of being displaced.

Cobb, the kingpin of them all, is tearing around the paths at the same blinding pace, but his batting is not up to standard yet. Matty will have little difficulty in making the sluggers swing at his slow one and expects to stand them all on their heads in the next world's series.

Plank, the wonderful portsider of Connie Mack's White Elephants, was the pitching sensation of last year's world's series and bids fair to repeat this year. Plank has been in the game longer than any other southpaw and will probably be the first of the 1913 list to leave the big show.

As for Honus Wagner, he is just a little slower, maybe, on hard-hit ground balls, but the eagle eye and the big mitts are still at the old stand, and it will take a sulphuric smash to penetrate the Pirates' short field while he is playing his position.

If Tris Speaker's record-breaking salary doesn't go to his head he should shine as brightly as ever in the Red Sox roster, both at bat and in the field. Joe Jackson, the Big Dipper of the Cleveland Naps, has youth in his favor coupled with a desire to beat Ty Cobb.

There is little doubt of his staying among the leaders.

Walter Johnson still burns them across the dish with the same old snap and zing.

Then, too, there are Eddie Collins and Frank Baker of the Athletics; Milan and Joe Boehling of the Senators, Reb Russell of the White Sox, Archer of the Cubs, Demaree of the Giants, Daubert of Brooklyn, Evers and Maranville of Boston, and all the other sparkles in the big league diamond.

Some lie buried in the nearby cemetery, while others lie on the unknown field. FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 27.—Trading was dull at the opening of the stock market today, but some issues made substantial fractional gains. Union Pacific and U. S. Steel common each began ½ higher, but at the end of twenty minutes had shaded. Reading acted in a similar way, commencing at 166⅛ for a gain of ⅝, then going to 166. The best gain was made by Canadian Pacific which advanced 1⅞, then receded slightly. Owing to an absence of pressure small sales caused movements in some issues out of proportion to the size of transactions. Amalgamated Copper rose ½ to 73 and Southern Pacific gained ⅜. B. R. T. scored a slight advance within the first half hour but lost it. Inter-Met, Studebaker, Erie and St. Paul advanced fractionally. New York, New Haven & Hartford, starting at 67¾, the same price at which it closed last night, declined ⅝. The curb was steady. Americans in London were firm.

Noon.—With the exception of Canadian Pacific which continued strong and moved up 1½ to 198½, the market was almost unchanged at noon. United States Steel common advanced ⅛. Reading was a shade higher, Amagamated Copper sod around 73. Call money loaning at 1¾.

2:30 p. m.—The list held firm in the late trading. In the last hour Union Pacific sold around 158⅜ and Reading sold up to 166½ against 166⅛ at the opening. Canadian Pacific was the strongest issue on the list and rose vigorously, selling around 198⅛ for a net gain of three points on the day.

The New York stock market closed dull; governments unchanged; other bonds steady.

Fred Smith had a thrilling ride on an empty coal car at the trestle of the North River Coal Company this afternoon. The car had been emptied and was being let down the incline and when at the bottom the car jumped the track and bumped along on the ties. A switch post which was in the way was cut completely off and for a time it looked as though the car and Smith would go into the Rondout creek. He finally slackened the speed of the car after it had gone some distance with but little damage to the car or the track.

WILL BASEBALL DIAMOND STARS REPEAT?

Eddie Plank, Veteran Pitcher of Athletics.

Can last year's diamond luminaries repeat, or will a new constellation hold the public eye during this season's pennant race?

This is the burning question of the hour. Judging from the early season

performances, most of the old guard will be right on the job when the safe lick means the game or the bases are loaded and the count is three and two.

The list changes just a little every year. Some veteran who has been the idol of fans falls by the wayside and one of the great army of debutants steps into the vacant niche. Among last year's number, however, there is none who is in danger of being displaced.

Cobb, the kingpin of them all, is tearing around the paths at the same blinding pace, but his batting is not up to standard yet. Matty will have little difficulty in making the sluggers swing at his slow one and expects to stand them all on their heads in the next world's series.

Plank, the wonderful portsider of Connie Mack's White Elephants, was the pitching sensation of last year's world's series and bids fair to repeat this year. Plank has been in the game longer than any other southpaw and will probably be the first of the 1913 list to leave the big show.

As for Honus Wagner, he is just a little slower, maybe, on hard-hit ground balls, but the eagle eye and the big mitts are still at the old stand, and it will take a sulphuric smack to penetrate the Pirates' short field while he is playing his position.

If Tris Speaker's record-breaking salary doesn't go to his head he should shine as brightly as ever in the Red Sox roster, both at bat and in the field. Joe Jackson, the Big Dipper of the Cleveland Naps, has youth in his favor coupled with a desire to beat Ty Cobb.

There is little doubt of his staying among the leaders.

Walter Johnson still burns them across the dish with the same old snap and zing.

Then, too, there are Eddie Collins and Frank Baker of the Athletics; Milan and Joe Boehling of the Senators, Reb Russell of the White Sox, Archer of the Cubs, Demaree of the Giants, Daubert of Brooklyn, Evers and Maranville of Boston, and all the other sparkles in the big league diamond.

GRAND JURY ON HINKLEY CASE

The grand jury this morning began its investigation into the Darwin Hinkley case and whether he will be indicted or not on a charge of attempting to blow up his wife with dynamite will not be known until that body makes its report to the court. Darwin is lodged in the county jail where he will remain until his case is decided one way or the other. The crime for which he is held occured early Tuesday morning, May 12, when dynamite sticks with lighted fuses attached were thrown through the window of the bedroom where Mrs. Hinkley and her two daughters, Rena and Violet Winchell, were sleeping. Mrs. Hinkley was injured so badly that she was taken to the Kingston city hospital and Miss Rena was injured about the legs.

Mrs. Hinkley, who was discharged from the hospital on Saturday was a witness before the grand jury this morning. She has not entirely recovered from the effect of the explosion and remains in a highly nervous state. She has been forced to wear dark colored glasses on account of the injuries to her eyes which are badly inflamed. She will not lose her eyesight, however. One ankle is also badly injured and is still weak.

Her daughter, Miss Rena Winchell, was also a witness before the grand jury Miss Rena still walks with a limp as a result of the injuries to her legs.

The morning session was occupied with the testimony of Mrs. Hinkley and her daughter, the members of the police department and several other witnesses who had been summoned to appear before the grand jury.

LOCAL MUSICIANS LEAD.

Musical Festivals Are Becoming Fashionable in Many Towns.

For once Kingston is the van and not the rear guard of musical progress. While our three-year-old orchestra has not attained the general public notice that it would have acquired had it been given a big public and financial backing such as similiar organizations have received in other places, it far exceeds what most other local orchestras have accomplished and its aims for the future are as aspiring. Emporia, Kansas, has just had its first musical festival, lasting three days. A local chorus and orchestra, with noted soloists inaugurated the splendid festival idea there. A big chorus and orchestra have just given a May musical festival in Oberlin, but they were obliged to go to Chicago for their orchestra. The St. Louis orchestra has very recently visited New Orleans for an afternoon and and evening concert and its program include the Oberon Overture by Weber, and the "Unfinished Symphony by Schubert, both numbers so well played by our own orchestra at their recent May concert. In Chelsea, Mass. a musical festival was given this month, the school children joining in the chorus work with the orchestra. Spokane, Washington also has its own orchestra and has within the past few weeks given two Symphony concerts, one especially for the school children. Houston, Texas is priding itself on its Symphony orchestra which gave its closing concert for this season on the same night the Kingston Symphony Society visited Catskill. On a much larger scale was given the twelfth May Festival of Springfield, Mass., where chorus and orchestra created unbounded enthusiasm. Trenton, in its festival, gave a fine free concert by its local musicians including the Trenton Festival Orchestra. Like stories come from the South. Nashua has just luxuriated in its May Festival of three days of the best music. Spartanburgh, South Carolina has followed suit. Nearer home we hear of fine musical festival just held in Yonkers, but here again they were obliged to draw on an out-of-town orchestra to complete their program. In none of the accounts of these musical happenings does one read of financial embarrassment on the part of the local musical organization, but rather a pride of the various places in generously supporting such festivals. Already our own Kingston Symphony Society is planning a May Festival in another year, provided the orchestra is financially supported by the people of the city. Shall we put ourselves on record in the outside musical world, where our orchestra has made it possible for us to rank, especially as our Symphony Society Concerts instead of taking money out of town, both keep and bring it here and also give prestige to the place in the general neighborhood? It will soon be known how the people of Kingston feel in the matter.

Ran Aground.

The launch Julia II, owned by John D. Schoonmaker, and which is used to carry men to the ice houses along the river, ran aground in Glasco channel this morning after a number of workmen had been unloaded at that place. The steamer E. B. Gardner came along shortly after and pulled the launch off the mud.

Coming to Kingston Point.

The Best Social Club of Poughkeepsie will come to Kingston Point on the steamer Commodore on June 9, and hold a dance at the Point. Pudney's orchestra of Poughkeepsie will accompany the club.

Mowers Was Not Stabbed.

An altercation between William Mowers and another negro as they were passing up Voorhees Lane to Clinton avenue from the lowlands Tuesday night was followed by an attack on Mowers by his acquaintance, and Mowers says that the other negro attempted to stab him. He yelled lustily that he had been stabbed, and Photographer William H. Longyear, who has his home and studio on Clinton avenue opposite the Senate House, telephoned to police headquarters. A telephone message was also sent to the sheriff's office by Charles Merritt. Policemen Ryan and Johnston were sent to the scene of the scrap but found Mowers calling on a colored family living on the lane, and that he was uninjured. IS IT HOT ENOUGH TO SUIT YOU ?

With the thermometers registering 90 degrees in the shade at 10 o'clock this morning with every indication of going higher as the sun gradually rose in the heavens, the day promised to exceed in warmth that of Tuesday, when the highest point registered was 93 degrees. The weather of Tuesday and today was the warmest that has ever been experienced even in the memory of the oldest inhabitant for the last week in May.

The slight breeze that blew on Tuesday and today did not relieve the extreme heat to any extent. The warm weather was relieved for a few minutes on Tuesday afternoon about 5 o'clock when a sudden thunder and lightning shower broke over the city and the rain fell in torrents for about five minutes, but when the weather cleared it was hotter than ever and the only good the rain seemed to have done was to lay the dust to some extent.

During the early evening on Tuesday every one who could sat on their front porch in an effort to take advantage of whatever cool air that was stirring. Probably the only man uptown who did not mind the heat to any extent was the one who when he returned home from work undressed and going to the bath room got in the tub and let the cold water run over his body until it was time to go to bed. When the man told the story some of his friends hinted that he had not gone to bed but had placed a pillow on one end of the tub and had gone to sleep in the bath tub.

The youngsters were probably the only ones who did not mind the heat as they spent Tuesday and today swimming in the river and creeks. Even the water in the streams was warm owing to the hot weather.

The horses that had to draw heavy loads throughout the day suffered extremely from the heat and were unable to make as many trips as on a cooler day.

The weather man promises that the warm spell will continue for a few days yet.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS PLAY TOMORROW

Bruce Dick is to pitch for K. A. against Ulster tomorrow. Jones, Bennett and Spalt, all of last year's team, and all of whom are good pitchers, have left school and hence are ineligible to play. Captain Troy has selected Dick, a new man on this year's squad to pitch tomorrow's game. Dick is a steady player and has the ability of keeping his head when in a tight fix. Although this is his first game with the K. A. nine, he should render a good account of himself. McCausland, another new man, will be on the receiving end for K. A. This will also be McCausland's first game with the K. A. nine, but it is hoped that he will successfully fill the position left open by the absence of "Bill" Newkirk. McCausland is a heady player. He has a good arm and seldom fails to nail a man stealing second. Captain Troy will play short, Wheeler will hold down second and Cook will be at his old stand on third. All of these men are of last year's team and their abilities as ball players are too well known to discuss. The rest of the K. A. team will be made up of green men, all of whom will be playing their first game with the uptown academy. With six new players, K. A.'s chances do not look over bright, but the K. A. nine is going in with the idea of winning.

Ulster has played good ball all year. She has a crack-a-jack pitcher in Culloton, and Pyers is no laggard behind the bat. Ulster also has some heavy hitters in Webster and Culloton. Tomorrow's game will be the first of a series of three and the dates of the two later games will be announced later. Mr. Dick and Mr. Rice will umpire tomorrow's game, which will be called at 4 o'clock.

Salvation Army Appeal.

Adjutant Noble, our worthy officer who has been stationed in Kingston for nearly two years, giving his time and talent for the uplift of humanity, and receiving very little compensation, has been honored by being appointed a delegate to the International Congress of the Salvation Army, which is to be held in London, England, next month. He has raised his boat fare both ways through selling mottoes and extra War Crys. The comrades of the local corps have undertaken to raise $50 towards his support while in London. Fifty appeals have been sent out, but up to the present only one reply has been received. We feel that the people of this city ought to appreciate the work of the army enough to support the officer during his absence. Contributions to this fund will be thankfully received and may be sent to Mrs. Crispell, Box 839, or to the army quarters, 94 Sorth Front street.

Mowers Was Not Stabbed.

An altercation between William Mowers and another negro as they were passing up Voorhees Lane to Clinton avenue from the lowlands Tuesday night was followed by an attack on Mowers by his acquaintance, and Mowers says that the other negro attempted to stab him. He yelled lustily that he had been stabbed, and Photographer William H. Longyear, who has his home and studio on Clinton avenue opposite the Senate House, telephoned to police headquarters. A telephone message was also sent to the sheriff's office by Charles Merritt. Policemen Ryan and Johnston were sent to the scene of the scrap but found Mowers calling on a colored family living on the lane, and that he was uninjured. His assailant had fled along the railroad tracks after Mowers had yelled.
